North County Aids the Peace Corps

By MARILYN BRANNAN

THE NORTH County is doing a world service this summer.

Three North County school districts are serving as training grounds for some 55 members of the Peace Corps, who will be leaving soon for a two-year stint in Liberia.

The Peace Corps trainees from several different colleges throughout the country are preparing themselves to teach Liberian children by observing and helping the summer staff at Laguna Salada, Jefferson Elementary and Jefferson High School Districts.

In Laguna Salada eleven trainees are at the Pacifica Manor and Linda Mar schools.

In the Jefferson Elementary School District 32 trainees are being shuffled around the six summer schools under the watchful eye of Mercina Karam, a teacher on leave from Fernando Rivera; Abraham Lincoln principal Dr. Lloyd Andrews and Dr. Rodney Clark, San Francisco State instructor.

The Jefferson High School District has 12 of the Peace Corps trainees.

THE TRAINEES are receiving on-campus training at San Francisco State College, one of the co-ordinating centers for a ten-year educational project under the auspices of the U. S. State Department's Agency for International Development.

Dr. William Cowan, professor of Education at S. F. State, heads the project here while staff members from the college work in Monrovia, Liberia, to establish a consolidated school system.

The 55 recruits in the North County are among 200 others from San Francisco State who are observing teaching techniques in various summer school classes throughout the San Francisco area. This phase of their training is dedicated to the task of giving them direct experience teaching children and helping them adapt this base of teaching to the school, children and curriculum they will face in Liberia.

The group will leave for Liberia on August 26 and will be teaching there this fall, freeing native teachers to go to college and further their own educations.

MARVIN Morganti, summer school principal in the Laguna Salada District, considers it a privilege to work with these young people.

"They are eager and filled with a youthful enthusiasm that will carry them a long way in heir desire to help humanity," he states.

"I am very pleased with the calibre of work they do, particularly since most of these young people have had no educational instruction during their college years. They are all college graduates, mainly with specialized liberal arts majors," he explains.

The trainees, ranging in age from 20 to 24 years, will teach within the Liberian village in which they will live. This close contact fosters a satsfying working relationship and permits full participation in community life, he said.

ONE OF the Coast's eleven recruits, Maurice J. Mollan from the University of Wisconsin, says he is looking forward to the personal values to be gained through Peace Corps work.

"I believe it will be of immeasurable value to us as individuals to go to Liberia and face up to the challenges in a relatively primitive society. We will help the people, but in the long run we will gain much more than they do through the experience," Mollan said.

As they obtain their on-campus training at San Francisco State College, each trainee receives $2 a day in what is called "walk around money."

"Actually this is quite adequate," laughed Mollan, "especially in a city like San Francisco where there is so much to do that costs nothing but the Muni bus fare."

DURING THEIR stay at college, the recruits are housed on campus. Men and married couples stay at Merced Hall and women in Mary Ward Hall.

Beisdes observing teaching techniques at Linda Mar and Pacific Manor schools, Mollan pointed out that the trainees attend formal instruction classes relating to world affairs, particularly those in Liberia and Africa. Academic concentration is aimed at American studies, communism, African studies and the techniques of teaching.

"We also participate in discussion groups with fellow trainees and people who have had recent and direct experience with Liberia, he added.

A physical education and health training program provides the young people with the realistic side of peace corp endurance requirements. In this area, former Daly City Mayor Joe Verducci, a professor of physical education at State, is co-ordinator and Dr. Rouben I. Akka is medical officer and co-ordinator of health and medical training.

On August 14, the entire 200 trainees will go to Camp Leonard in the Sierra Nevada northwest of Lake Tahoe.

MEETING TONIGHT

Pacifica to Mull Sign Ordinance

A special public hearing will be held at the Pacifica City Council meeting tonight on the controversial proposed sign ordinance.

City Manager Karl A. Baldwin says this hearing is not legally required, but is an opportunity for the public to express their opinions on the proposed law.

In February the councilmen adopted a portion of the ordinance dealing with billboards along the freeway but the bulk of the ordinance has yet to be approved.

Points under discussion tonight concern regulations on flashing lights and political signs. The ordinance does not contain any ban on "A" boards used by real estate agents nor a provision to allow signs above roof peaks, Baldwin points out.

The real estate signs had been subject of previous heated debate when representatives of the State Fair Employment Practices commission called the ordinance an attempt to get around the new state Fair Housing act.

Baldwin says that written objections to the ordinance have been received from Amalgamated Associations in Novato, the California Brewers Association and the California Automobile Association, both of San Francisco.

A new Park, Beach and Recreation commissioner will be announced tonight by Mayor Fred Ballew. Wilber Frye, incoming commissioner, will replace Jim Cooper.

A certificate of commendation will be given Cooper and Ralph Brant, a past member of the Personnel Advisory board, for their faithful contributions to the city in their respective positions.

Baldwin also will present to councilmen a resolution govern-

State Delays Landscaping For Freeway

Pacifica's dream for an artfully landscaped coastal freeway will not become a reality for some time acording to Alan S. Hart, district engineer of the California Division of Highways.

Hart, in a letter to City Manager Karl A. Baldwin, said he was unable to recommend a freeway landscaping project for the Pacifica section of the new coastal Cabrillo freeway for the coming fiscal year.

"We will proceed, however, with studies so that plans will be available when future funds can be allocated by the California Highway commission," he added.

Hart revealed that currently no designs are underway but that the division does have the Pacifica project on its list for future landscape and planning projects.

He explained that the number of projects undertaken in any one year must be controlled careuully since funds now being spent on landscape maintenance is rapidly approachig the statutory limit.

Hart also pointed out that demands made by the interstate freeway system pre-empt those of intrastate systems and consequently create a shortage of fund that can be spent for the non-interstate projects.

Pacifica also was denied its request for a scenic turnout on the Edgemar Freway.

Hart re-emphasized that the

The Convention Is Now History

Law enforcement in Northern San Mateo County returned to normalcy this week.

The investigation of burglaries, robberies and auto accidents was classed under the heading of "routine" after a week of maintaining law and order at Daly City's Cow Palace during the Republican National Convention.

Daly City police, assisted by virtually all other San Mateo county law enforcement agencies, won nationwide praise for their handling of convention civil rights demonstrations.

For detailed coverage on Daly City's reaction to its first national political convention, see Page 3.

Hickey Discussion Delayed at S.S.F.

South San Francisco City Councilmen Monday night whipped through an eight-page agenda so fast the pages are still turning, but delayed discussion of Hickey Boulevard extension for one week.

Winston Manor Homeowners have retained Burlingame Attorney Nick Elchinoff to represent them in their concern over the boulevard's growth, and he asked for the delay.

Councilmen set a special session for next Monday at 7:30 p.m., to give Attorney Elchinoff and his clients time to study the county and city plans.

Winston Manorites have opposed the suggested extension of Hickey Boulevard as a portion of a roadway from the bay to the ocean, on grounds that it unnecessarily cuts up their neighborhoods.

Most recent plans are said to require removal of "only seven" homes, although several others might also be affected.

Councilmen approved an operating budget for next fiscal year, and set the city's property tax rate at $1.14 per $100 assessed valuation.

The council adopted a new electrical and plumbing codes to match county rules, and approved apartment zoning for Willow Avenue properties owned by Giuseppe and Mary Giseldini and others.

Also approved was the proposed rezoning for Neighborhood 18 in Westborough.

Miss San Carlos Reigns Over the Floral Fiesta

By VERA GRAHAM

Her heart belongs to the Giants—and she's San Mateo County's official sweetheart.

Georgina Ann Hillerby, San Carlos beauty, was acclaimed winner of the 1964 San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta Dream Girl contest Thursday night held at the Fairgrounds before a crowd of several hundred city and county officials and members of the press.

She will reign over the thirtieth annual fiesta to be held from July 31 to August 8, which this year is expected to draw more than 200,000 visitors.

The sparkling brunette with a winning smile won enthusiastic applause from the audience as she was interviewed by Emcee Paul Speegle and disclosed that her favorite hobby is baseball—as it is played by the Giants.

Seventeen-year-old Georgina is five feet, seven inches tall, weighs 126 pounds, and the all-important statistics are: 35-24-35.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roney Hillerby of 372 Beverly Drive, in San Carlos, Miss Hillerby plans to follow a career in cosmetology, and will enroll this fall at the College of San Mateo.

Not only will Georgina preside over local festivities and be the county's official hostess during the year, but

AN INNOVATION

Automated Taxes

AUTOMATION is coming to San Mateo County government in a big way this fall.

This year, for the first time all county tax bills will come out in the form of punchcards and will be processed through the county electronic data processing center.

"The county," says Tax Collector Ross Conti, "has moved into the era of electronic computing machines in an effort to hold the line in the increasing costs due to continual growth of the number of documents that it must process."

Conti estimates that the switch to the punchcards from the old printed tax bills will save the county $15,000 a year in machine time and labor.

HOMEOWNERS will get a sizable package from Conti this October. There will be two punchcards, a leaflet explaining the new system, a table showing comparative tax rates, and a return envelope.

One of the punchcards is a payment card, which is to be mailed back with the payment check.

Among other things, it shows the amount of taxes being charged for land, improvements and personal property, and exemptions.

The second card is an information card and is to be retained by the taxpayer.

In addition to the data contained on the payment card, the information card shows

RESIDENTS OBJECT

Planners Okay Apartments on Santa Barbara

Another apartment rezoning for property belonging to developer Gus Pedemonte was approved last week by the Daly City Planning Commission.

Several residents appeared to protest a rezoning from single family to apartment for property located on the east side of Sant Barbara Avenue between Hillcrest Drive and the north Daly City limit lines.

Pedemonte pointed out that we own the adjacent property to the lots in question and a rezoning application is pending now before the city council.

He said that parking would be provided from both the front and the rear and the water mains in the area would be improved.

"It is economically unfeasible to erect single family homes on this property," Pedemonte said.

Joseph A. Kay, 162 Santa Barbara Avenue, objected to the rezoning.

He claimed Santa Barbara was a narrow dead end street with no turnaround facilities for fire equipment.

Even though Pedemonte will provide off street parking for his tenants, Kay claimed it would not be enough. He said

The Avansino-Martensen nursery lands west of Tanforan racetrack in San Bruno have been sold to North County developer Gus Pedemonte for a reported $2,527,000.

The land includes approximately 40 acres between El Camino Real and Junipero Serra Boulevard, just south of Sneath Lane.

Pedemonte recently paid over a million dollars for 103 lots in Daly City.

State Grants Jeff Addition

The State Allocation Board bought $409,481 in bonds from the Jefferson Union High School District for the completion of the construction of Jefferson High School last week.

At the same time, the board granted the district a token one dollar loan to maintain the district's eligibility for state aid.

Superintendent of Schools Edward Morgan said the board of trustees will open bids on the Jefferson project Monday evening at its regular board meeting.

The addition will raise the capacity of the Mission Street school from 1,500 to 1,750.

Most of the addition will be on the Mission Street side of the school.

2 Weeks Job To Clean Up Cow Palace

The winners and losers were gone today and only the clean-up crews remained in the Cow Palace.

More than 500 workers Friday began the huge task of dismantling the scene of the Republican convention. They predicted it would take two weeks to complete the job.

The first task was to clear out the layer of broken red, white and blue balloons, green Goldwater soft drink cans, Miller for vice president placards, mimeographed copies of speeches and the other tons of debris carried, thrown and discarded by supporters of the various candidates.

Elementary Board Raps Committee

Suggest Move May Wreck Plan

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District threw some sharp barbs at the San Mateo County Committee on School Reorganization last night and pondered the thought that the committee might be trying to wreck a plan to create two unified districts in the North County.

The augmented committee's decision not to level bonds in the unified district may have the effect of defeating the entire unification plan to split the high school district Chairman Wayne Douglas surmised.

Under state law when schools are constructed the district is taxed a maximum of 45 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The Jefferson Elementary School District pays this at the present time.

If bonds are leveled this remains the legal limit. However if the bonds are not leveled the district continues to pay its 45 cnts plus up to 40 more cents on additional construction.

This could possibly pyramid costs to a giant 85 cents per $100 of assessed valuation the trustees said.

Trustee Thomas Noonan said he didn't think the County committee understands school finance.

"Failure to level the bonds would be a great disservice to the Brisbane and Bayshore areas" Noonan stated.

"Do you think the people of Daly City would vote to burden themselves for the schools in the other areas where the major construction will be occurring?" he asked.

Superintendent Richard Foster said that a decision not to level the bonds would cost the Daly City taxpayer approximately $320,000.

Chairman Douglas agreed "the children of Bayshore and Brisbane will suffer the most if this proposal passes."

Discussion revolved largely about the proposed board of trustees to govern the Jefferson, Bayshore, Brisbane division of the split.

The county committee, augmented by the elementary boards of each district concerned, passed as part of the unification proposal a resolution naming a five-member board of trustees to be elected through trusteeship areas.

Three of these trustees would be elected from the Jefferson area and one each from the Brisbane and Bayshore districts.

"This shows that two trustees will be representing approximately 500 students each while three will be representing 3,000 each," Foster said.

Chairman of the board O. Wayne Douglas says he could not understand the inequity of trustee areas and believes the trustees should be elected at large.

Trustee George G. Perry indicated he'd like to consider the proposal as a generous act on our behalf.

"I think it's another indication of a decision based on dollars and cents" inserted Trustee Thomas F. Noonan.

Present liability insurance coverage of the Board members was another topic for discussion.

Foster reported that the cost of increasing the present coverage from $250,000 per trustee and $100,000 for each occurrence to $500,000 per each trustee and $150,000 for each occurrence would cost approximately five per cent more or $302.

Trustees agreed it would be $302 well spent but decided to study the matter until discussion at the next meeting or August 18 when the present policy will expire.

In other action the Board authorized Foster to talk to state officials in Sacramento concerning the recommendations of the Citizens' Cafeteria committee to construct cafeterias at George Washington and Abraham Lincoln Schools.

Limited state funds are available to the district if a reasonable percentage of the money is devoted to the building of cafeterias.

Board members accepted the resignation of two members of the classified staff, John Sperison from the maintenance staff and Joe Bermudez from the custodial staff.

The trustees complimented both men on their service to the district.

ing the granting of franchises for community television systems in the city. It also will state the terms and conditions for the operation of community antenna television systems.

The council will consider a new 1964 San Mateo County electrical code to be introduced by the city attorney's office.

Baldwin points out that the present code was adopted in 1958 and is out of date. The new document already has been adopted by San Bruno, Millbrae, and Redwood City and is pending currently before councils of other cities in the county.

"The only departure in the Pacifica code is a provision for apartments and motels that wiring shall be a minimum of thin wall conduit," Baldwin said.

Among several resolutions to be introduced tonight is one calling for the sale of bonds to construct curbs, gutters, sidewalks, paving, sewers, storm drainage facilities and water transmission main in the Crespi Drive area.

The resolution fixes the date of bonds and direct publication of a notice inviting bids for purchase of bonds. Sealed proposals for purchase of $442,754 worth of improvement bonds will be received and considered by the council at 8 p.m. on August 1.

In other action, Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, secretary of the Manor Village Improvement Club, will ask for protection for pedestrians on the Coast Highway between Pacific Manor and Sharp Park.

"It is really imperative that provision for pedestrian traffic in that area be made now," she stresses.

Mrs. Calhan points out that a sidewalk on the east side of the highway is necessary for the protection of students at Oceana High School, worshipers and school children of the Church of the Good Shepherd, and patrons of the Chapel by the Sea Mortuary.

the combined tax rate and tells how much of the tax is to go for schools and how much for city and county governments and special districts.

BEFORE the tax bill is sent out, the parcel number, installment amount and total tax will be punched into the cards.

Then, when the payment card is returned with the payment, the card will be run through the complicated electronic computing equipment and the information will be recorded on magnetic tape and the card will be photographed on microfilm.

Then the card, stamped paid, will be returned to the taxpayer as his permanent receipt.

Last year punch cards were used only for bills that were sent to banks which served as the paying agency for the homeowner. Conti estimated that the step cut the processing time in his office by 10 days.

THIS YEAR, the dual cards will be sent to all taxpayers. Conti said he hopes that the banks will send the information cards on to the individual homeowners to be retained in their files.

The new process will also have the advantage of saving space, Conti said. A small drawer will now hold, on microfilm, the information that took five legal-sized files to hold before.

Conti said he hopes that taxpayers will pay their bills by mail rather than call at his office in person, which would require the issuance of a temporary receipt, an extra step.

Prizes received by the Dream Girl are an expensive three-costume wardrobe from Macy's Hillsdale, a beauty and charm course from the San Francisco House of Charm, use of a Fiat roadster during the Fair as a gift of Grand Touring Imports, Redwood City, and the Princess Beauty Salon will create special hairstyles for her during the local fair and the state contest.

Georgina was given a run for her crown by a group of contestants among the loveliest ever to seek the coveted title. They include Cheryl Happ of Redwood City, Theresa Foley of Pacifica; Karen Soltau, Daly City; Ruthellen Reite, Belmont; Carol Berner, Burlingame; Judy Cook, San Mateo; Louise Leitner, South San Francisco; Susan Stanfield, Half Moon Bay; Judy Reeves, San Bruno, and Kathy Lilly, Brisbane.

Mrs. Walter Stokes of 168 Santa Barbara, Joseph Dziacko of 71 Vendome Avenue and Daniel Restani of 135 Bepler Street, also registered complaints against apartment building in the area.

Restani questioned the legality of the height of one building.

Several persons also appeared to protest rezoning from single family to commercial property located on the southeast corner of MacDonald Avenue and Schwerin Street.

Vincent Leonatti of 151 Oakridge Drive, Daly City, said he was negotiating with Sun Valley Dairy for a retail store on the property.

He said the location would not be used as a warehouse.

Leonatti pointed out that while the area was in the county he had obtained highway commercial zoning, but when Bayshore came into Daly City, it was rezoned single family.

He said the location would not be desirble as a home because there is industry a block away a fire station adjacent and a gas station across the street.

Kenneth Pack of 112 MacDonald Avenue presented a petition with 91 signatures protesting the commercial zoning due to the single family character of the neighborhood.

He pointed up that traffic caused by the store would hinder vehicles from the adjacent fire house.

Pack said the residents however would not object to duplex or apartment zoning for the property.

from Golden Gate National Cemetery, the nursery for years has supplied flowers for the thousands of mourners who visit there each year.

The property has been scheduled for development as part of a "Tanforan West" shopping center and apartment house complex planned by Consolidated Lands Company, developers of the Crestmoor subdivisions ni San Bruno.

It is expected that Pedemonte will take over the Avansino-Mortensen interests in this project.

Terms of the sale give the nursery operators two years rent free use of the property, it was reported.

County Recorder Ruth Kirste said the deed recorded with her office carried $2,779.70 worth of internal revenue stamps, indicating the above sale price.

The deed, she said, transferred title of the property from the Avansino, Mortensen and Company, of San Francisco, to Pedavan Corporation of San Francisco.

Officers of Pedavan, she said, include Gus Pedemonte as president, and Alfred E. Graziani as secretary.

The deeds covered three parcels, one of 3 acres, one of five acres, and one of an unspecified acreage.

Pedemonte, operator of the Cypress Hills Golf Course, could not be reached for comment.

Officers of the nursery also refused to comment "at this time," but said this deal includes only a part of the nursery property and that all of the nursery land could be involved later.

Garden Village Principal Is Injured in Pacifica Accident

Carroll Martindale, principal of Garden Village School in Broadmoor was in satisfactory condition in Peninsula Hospital today after being struck by a car on Cabrillo Highway in Pacifica last Wednesday.

Doctors feared at first that Martindale, 43, of 903 Serena Drive, Pacifica, would lose his right leg, which was badly mangled with compound fractures and other injuries.

After surgery, however, it was reported that the leg could probably be saved.

Martindale, who suffered multiple other injuries and shock, was in "guarded" condition for a couple of days after the accident.

Highway Patrolman Robert Fjetland said Martindale was struck at 2:34 a.m. by a southbound car driven by Donald J. Casey, 32-year-old teamster of 844 Crespi Drive, Pacifica.

The officer said it was not learned what Martindale was doing on the highway at that hour or whether he was crossing the road or standing still.

Casey said he did not see Martindale before his car hit him but felt a bump. The accident happened four-tenths of a mile north of Crespi Drive.

This summer is the third year that San Francisco State College has trained volunteers for the Peace Corps. Previous programs were aimed at the Philippines where teacher aides were sent.

PATRICK AHERN, mayor of South San Francisco, has been elected chairman of the North County Council of Cities at the organization's bimonthly meeting. The group is composed of the cities of Daly City, South San Francisco, Pacifica, Brisbane, San Bruno, Millbrae and Burlingame. Congressman J. A Glance Backward at the GOP Convention

Letters Cite Convention Police Action

The efforts of the augmented Daly City Police and San Mateo County Sheriff's force were amplified by the extensive news coverage given to the Republican Convention.

The switchboards of both police agencies have received numerous calls commending them on their work at the convention.

Here is a sampling of some of the letters received:

"I am sure I am only one of hundreds of Bay Area residents who would like to congratulate you and your men personally for the remarkably kind, intelligent and efficient job you did in handling the crowds and the civil rights pickets at the Republican Convention.

"It was a great pleasure to me, watching the Convention on television, to think that every state in the country was given a visual lesson in how public assemblies could be handled without violence and with a maximum of tact and wisdom. It made me proud to be a resident of this area — it made me wish I was a resident of Daly City.

". . . I watched the convention on television, and I was particularly impressed and pleased to see the capable way in which the CORE demonstrations were handled by your department. I would be very happy if I thought that all of our city police departments were conducted with such efficiency."

". . . Although it appeared a concerted effort was made on the part of the news media to televise or report any incident, I neither saw nor heard of any.

"If only those concerned could be made aware of their civil responsibility as well as their quest of 'civil rights,' I'm sure their goal could be attained much sooner."

". . . I could not help but be impressed with the magnificent work, patience and wisdom displayed by your force of dedicated men in their handling of the crowds and particularly, the CORE demonstrators.

"Please express my appreciation to the Daly City police and the sheriff's deputies involved. All of you have earned the admiration and respect of every concerned and law-abiding American."

"I could not help but drop a line telling you how proud we here in Daly City are of our police departments. In view of their conduct in handling the 'civil rights' demonstrators during the Republican Convention, I am sure that our police department is the envy of the nation. I think that your actions were conducted in the correct manner . . . for I believe that the least amount of publicity given these people the better.

"Please convey my congratulations for a job well done to the men of your department. There are still a few decent people in the world that appreciate the men of your profession."

"We, as many other millions of Americans, watched your forces on television carry out a most difficult assignment with alertness, expertness and compassion."

"They were certainly in command at all times and reflected their training. We have a deep respect for those responsible for a job well done. It made us swell with pride to be a Californian."

". . . I should like to congratulate you and your excellent police force for your diplomatic handling of the picketing and sit-ins at the Cow Palace with no display of violence. The plan must have been well thought out in advance, between you and the San Francisco force (they were not involved directly) and you are to be commended for a job well done.

"I, for one, realize the tremendous pressures our police are under today and would like to know that you have my support at all times."

"You are to be highly commended for your expert handling of the peace and order at the recent GOP convention. All Californians must be very proud of you. Thank you for the news that wasn't made."

Fitzgerald Praises Police For Saving Tax Dollars

The special police force assembled for the Republican convention at the Cow Palace which managed to keep trouble at a minimum and found it unnecessary to arrest any civil rights demonstrators was complimented last week by Chairman James V. Fitzgerald of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Fitzgerald congratulated the force for an "excellent job" and asserted that their restraint in dealing with the demonstrators probably saved the taxpayers of the county hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The board chairman noted that the bill in San Francisco for extra court costs in prosecuting civil righters arrested there has already exceeded $1 million.

"The job that the police officers did at the convention," Supervisor Fitzgerald said today "was in my opinion an outstanding job of professional police work.

"It was unique because it was a combination effort by police officers from most every city in the county and co-ordinated by the sheriff's office. They did an excellent job.

"I was there the night Senator Goldwater was nominated. There were two fires and the situation, if it had not been handled right, could definitely have gotten out of hand.

"The foresight shown by the sheriff's office in talking to the civil rights groups in advance of the convention and getting an understanding as to the rules for demonstrations helped a lot. It was a very intelligent approach.

"I'm very happy it was done in such an excellent way. It has resulted in a good image for the county throughout the nation and a tax saving for our residents."

City Officials Pleased With Convention Results

By RON BATES

SAN MATEO County will pay $25,000 and Daly City approximately $5,000 for the special protection provided the Republicans at the Cow Palace convention, but nobody's objecting.

"The publicity that Daly City received because of the way the police handled the demonstrations is worth a million dollars," Daly City Mayor Micheal DeBernardi enthused Monday.

The passive approach of the special force made up of 150 Daly City police, Sheriff's Deputies and volunteers from the remaining 16 cities in the county was successful in maintaining a maximum of control at a convention which was expected to have more than its share of disorders.

Despite demonstrators openly seeking arrest not one booking was made.

The "no arrest" attitude was worked out in advance of the convention, Chief Roland Petrocchi said Monday and "we are very satisfied with the results."

THE POLICE department had got together with CORE officials before the convention to set down "ground rules" for demonstrations.

Petrocchi, a 24-year veteran with the Daly City Police Department, praised the CORE people for their conduct also. Although they pretty well kept within the predetermined rules, he said, they "had some surprises cooking" and the police officers had to be on their toes to react correctly "on his own."

As the convention came to a close, even the CORE officials had good words for the Daly City police, Petrocchi said.

There were a few crucial points during the convention, that were handled by the police that brought praise, even from the demonstrators themselves.

Several CORE members slipped into a Scranton demonstration march when the Pennsylvania governor was nominated Wednesday.

Once inside they unfurled a banner and had to be escorted out of the convention hall.

"They were only taken out of the hall," Petrocchi emphasizes, "they were not arrested, as some reporters and columnists reported."

ANOTHER crucial point came when pickets began a "sit-in" at the Cow Palace exit road to Geneva Avenue, blocking all lanes.

The police solved this problem by rerouting cars and busses out the back way.

The demonstrators then spilled out onto Geneva Avenue itself, a heavily traveled thoroughfare and sat down. Police started lifting them out of the roadway and their task was made doubly hard when some of the demonstrators locked arms.

The special force had been going to classes for six weeks prior to the convention and the training came in handy.

Finally Undersheriff Wesley Pomeroy ordered that the demonstrators be allowed to sit in the road and traffic was directed around them. Thus frustrated, the demonstrators got up and left.

ANOTHER demonstration handled by the police was a "lie in" at the turnstiles on Wednesday morning. It turned into only a token protest as police quickly diverted traffic to other exits.

Not all of the Daly City police actions were popular, however.

NBC commentator John Chancellor was removed from the convention aisle by Daly City police officer John Coleman and Sheriff's Deputy Harold Cushnie at the order of the convention chairman.

Chancellor, making the most of the situation, quipped that he was being arrested and some of the viewers apparently took him serious.

The Daly City switchboard was beseiged with over a hundred calls from as far as New York and Dallas, protesting "Gestapo" and "police state" methods.

BUT OVER-ALL, all Daly City officials were pleased with the result of the convention.

Mayor DeBernardi said that the convention helped to put Daly City on the map.

"The Cow Palace has to be considered more of an asset than a liability," DeBernardi said. "If people didn't realize where Daly City was before they do now."

He pointed out that Daly City's proximity to San Francisco was made very evident and it will help when Daly City begins to develop an industrial area.

FOR PETROCCHI, the convention proved another point.

"In any city the first line of defense is the police department," he said. "This convention thoroughly disproves the theory that small town police could not handle something as big as this."

Petrocchi said he has always made an effort to get qualified men for the job and it has "paid off."

"We've been giving our men in-service training for a number of years," he said. "I've been telling them that their test was going to be from last Monday through Thursday. As far as I'm concerned they passed with flying colors."

The methods and techniques of the special convention force were being studied by members of the New Jersey police who will be handling the same chores for the Democrats in Atlantic City soon.

Meanwhile, the Daly City police are getting ready for another convention — of Beatle fans on August 19.

Firefighters Make Debut On Television

The Daly City Fire Department made a transcontinental debut on television Wednesday when a fire broke out at the Cow Palace.

Daly City officials said there was no evidence of arson in the fire that partially destroyed a wood cattle ramp on the east end of the Cow Palace during the height of the Republican convention.

Assistant Daly City Fire Chief Herbert Ritzmann said it appeared the fire was accidentally started when something ignited a number of packing boxes underneath the ramp.

He said the boxes, placed there by one of the television networks, should not have been there.

Arson was at first suspected when two delegates told officials they saw someone run halfway up the ramp, turn around and then come down. Moments later the flames broke out.

The ramp had been used moments before by Mary Scranton, wife of the Pennsylvania governor, who went out to the Scranton trailer nearby.

The flames reached a height of approximately 50 feet before Daly City fire engines, located only a few blocks away, appeared. The fire was quickly extinguished and there was no panic at the convention.

The ramp door had been closed, keeping smoke from entering the main pavilion.

Ritzmann said they had to move an unidentified empty trailer van from the scene. The trailer side was scorched and damage to the ramp was estimated at only a few hundred dollars.

AH, THE POWER of the press.

Especially when one is cowardly.

See, not long ago we put our teeth in charge of Dr. Jack Luceti, who, despite a lack of sufficient practice because of his budding new Daly City dental practice, recently won the Harding Park Club tournament.

About a year ago, you may remember, we did a piece on Jack's older brother and dental partner, Ron, who, while doing time as an army dentist, had just gotten into the semi-finals in the British Amateur.

Ron not only had had to survive stiff competition, but the usual dentist jokes, most prevalent of which was his continually being called a "Yank."

You may also remember how we described Ron as the old neighborhood's best kid golfer, and Jackie as the little brother he beat up whenever he had had a bad round. After all, what are little brothers for?

Anyway, now the Brothers Luceti have made up and are partners (Ron's recently returned from his Army stint and a honeymoon), and when Jack told us we had this bad wisdom tooth that had to be extracted, we figured, integrity or not, we'd better not take any chances. So we bribed him.

We told Dr. Jack we'd give him a write-up every bit as good as the one his brother had gotten if he'd play the Painless Parker bit with our wisdom tooth.

THIS IS it. The write-up. And to show you how much we think of Jack's artistry, we're giving him the write-up before we've even received his bill!

Let us tell you, now we can see why Jack has such a deft touch with that putter. Hands like a surgeon.

The kind of luck we usually have with healers — like if we were undergoing brain surgery, we'd draw a neurosurgeon with hangnails.

Of course, we admit we really didn't have a chance to see Jack's work close up, having fainted and all, but any dentist who can pull a tooth on us without emerging with tooth marks across his knuckles is quite a guy.

This all makes us grateful that Jack's given up softball. He brought out an interesting facet of doctors and sports which we had never before considered.

"We had a softball team at dental school," he told us, "but decided to drop it when a few fellas came up with injured hands and fingers, knocking them out of school and holding up their careers for a year.

"A dentist without good hands is useless. I guess golf's one of the few sports safe to play for any person in a profession or business where his hands are important."

Our last dentist must have been a handball player.

★ ★ ★

THE LUCETIS, incidentally, are located in Daly City right off Mission Street, near Colma, right down the street from that auto agency that sells new cars with old movies.

The aluminum lettering on the dental building reads like an Eliot Ness casting call: Luceti, Luceti, Genovese and Brewer.

Don't ask us how Brewer made the lineup. Probably to take care of the Westlake crowd.

Is this a free plug? Darned right it is. And we've got a painless hole in our gum to prive it's deserved!

IT PAINS us (only figuratively, thank goodness) to reprint the following fan letter, because we had always considered the writer a friend. But to prove we will print anything, here it is, with this author's annotations in parenthesis:

"Recently, there have appeared in your column attacks aimed at Alvin Dark. These attacks have revolved primarily around Dark's strategy and the play of some of his players.

"One criticism has been his failure to call the bunt more often. The answer to this is that the Giants do not have many players who can bunt well. Players like Mays, Cepeda, etc., are not paid to bunt (we thought they were paid to be ball-players). True, it is Dark's job to teach bunting, but you're not going to teach bunting to a power hitter (why not?).

"Another criticism is that the Giants do not run the bases right. Is this Dark's fault? Base running is instinctive and comes with experience. Are McCovey and Alou expected to run the bases like Mays? (We'd settle for them running like Ernie Lombardi.) . . . Teams run the bases well because of good base coaches (Now who's leveling attacks, eh Whitey, Cookie?)

"A recent incident showing Dark's incompetence (we agree, finally) appeared in your column. Dark claimed he did not know anything about Danny Cater, a pinchhitter, and asked Cepeda how Cater should be pitched to. Writers claim Dark had seen Cater bat before. This is true, but had he seen him enough to know how to pitch to him? It takes a long time to get a "book" on the batter. And what's wrong with asking a good friend of Cater's, Cepeda, how he should be pitched to? (Plenty, if he's too good a friend.) Dark remains one of the best managers in the majors."

Al Figone, 283 Station Avenue, Daly City.

(Thanks for proving our point, Al Dark does need defending.)

SPORTS IRONIES NOTED:

We picked three or four winners a day at the recent Pleasanton meet — on paper. The two days we showed in person, even the odds-on favorites ran seventh. Oh, we did pick one winner — a big underdog. That was the day we took the wrong road and ended up winding through Niles Canyon behind a highway patrol cop doing 25, while our one pick of the week was winning without our bet on him.

★ ★ ★

NOTED recently that Japanese baseball fans rioted over the decision of an umpire. Not too long ago, before they REALLY learned the game from our washed-up imports, Japanese players went so far as to bow to umpires before stepping to the plate . . . and fans at times even applauded their work.

★ ★ ★

HATE to say we told you so, but we did say in a pre-season column that the Giant strong point could be their pitching. At this writing, the S. F. mound staff has the best combined E.R.A. in baseball; 2.75, followed by the Dodgers at 2.84, and the White Sox, 2.93.

★ ★ ★

MAYS AND Cepeda were wearing borrowed Met hats when they helped that winning National League rally along in the All-Star game, and THERE'S an irony that should hold you until next week.

League Leaders Win 3

PAL Drive Under Way At S. S. F.

South San Francisco Police Athletic League has embarked on its sixth annual house-to-house fund raising drive this week. The fund raiser is PAL's one big push each year for funds to keep its varied activity programs going.

Boys from the sponsored 15 uniformed baseball teams will canvass the city, block to block, dressed in their baseball uniforms seeking to sell membership cards.

"The contribution will be well spent. PAL this year is sponsoring 15 boys' baseball teams fully uniformed and equipped and a Junior Drum and Bell Corp," explains president Gus Nicolopulos. "This is keeping over 350 boys and girls fully occupied and supervised. This year's drive is a very important one for PAL's future existence. Some baseball uniforms have been in use since PAL's inception in 1958. There will be a dire need for replacements."

The 15 PAL baseball teams are entered in every SSF league for boys ages eight to 16. Sgt. Nicolopulso, president of PAL, "would like to thank the citizens of South San Francisco for their wonderful response to PAL's fund drives in the past years and is hopeful that his year's response will be just as receptive. This is PAL's sole means of survival."

Nicolopulos added, "I would like to thank all the managers and coaches and all the other people who devote their time towards making this city's baseball program the finest one of it skind in the entire state."

SSF Golfer Defeated in Public Links

South San Francisco's Steve Opperman fired a five-under par 65 at the Francis A. Gross course to win medalist honor in the National Public Links Golf tournament last week, but he was eliminated the following day in the third round of play.

Opperman, runner-up for the Publinx title last year and winner of his last two tournaments, The California State Amateur and the Western Amateur, had a string of ten straight victories in match play up until his defeat.

He was defeated, however, by 19-year-old Jim Carlson, who will be a sophomore at the University of Minnesota this fall.

Opperman said of the course, "Anybody can win — because there's no trouble on this course. No traps or water, only trees — and they're sparse. So you can play well, and some hacker can never be on the fairway but get on the green and sink a put and win the hole."

Jr. Olympics Set on Coast

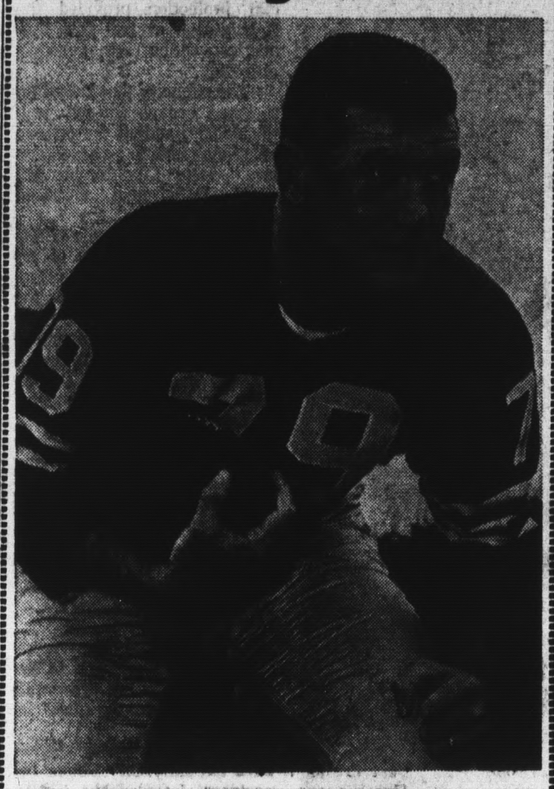
Pacifica's annual Junior Olympics, sponsored by the Park, Beach, and Recreation Department will be held tomorrow and Friday July 24 at Oceana High School.

Children and teens will compete for individual awards as well attempting to win the Olympic flag for their playground.

Sanchez playground was last year's over-all winner for the girls' Olympics while Vallemar received the flag for the boys' events.

Among the featured events are the distance throw, dashes, broad jump and relays.

At Age 33



St. Clair Has 'Senior' Status

Former Daly City Councilman Bob St. Clair became a "senior citizen" of sorts when he signed a contract to play another season for the San Francisco 49ers last week.

At age 33, the 6-9 offensive tackle is the oldest living active 49er.

It will be the twelfth season for the football star who replaces Leo "The Lion" Nomellini as the oldest player.

St. Clair resigned from the Daly City Council in February when he bought a new home in Millbrae. The St. Clairs are expecting their sixth child in a few weeks.

St. Clair hinted at retirement last year mainly because of what he termed "coach-player" friction.

Coach Red Hickey was given his walking papers, however, and Jack Christiansen was hired as the new coach.

The burly football star was voted the coveted Len Eshmont award for being the most inspirational player on the squad last year.

The 49er management indicated at that time they wanted St. Clair to return to help mold a winner.

When he received the award at the final home game of a disasterous 10-2 record, the fans booed him and it hurt St. Clair personally which helped him think of retirement more.

St. Clair was drafted third in 1952 by the San Francisco 49ers after a successful football college career at the Univeriity of San Francisco.

In the 11 years of playing pro football he has been chosen to play in the Pro Bowl game five times.

Last season was the first time in six years, he went through the entire season without an injury.

In the council chambers, St. Calir built a reputation of being outspoken and more than once shouted down an irate citizen.

Her served as mayor in 1961.

Pacifica Has Swim Openings

The Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department has announced there are still openings for registration in the regular swimming instructional classes being conducted at the Terra Nova High School pool.

These classes are available for children at least 48 inches tall. Each session consists of ten lessons, and the registration fee for each session is $2.50 per child.

Class times available for the sessions beginning on July 27 are at 9, 9:30, 10:05, 10:40, and 11:15 a.m. There are also some vacancies in the final session of the summer which begins on August 10.

Registration for these classes may be made at the Recreation Department office in City Hall.

The final adult class will begin on July 27, and will continue for two weeks on Monday through Thursday evenings from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. Registration fee for adult lessons is $3.50.

Tourney Has New Format

The sixth annual Daly City Police Athletic League Benefit Bowling Tournament will introduce a new format this year.

In order to give equal opportunity to league and open play bowlers, the tournament will be presented in two divisions—August 8 to September 7 for open play bowlers only and September 8 to October 4.

The change in format was necessitated by the Republican Convention in Daly City, which will require many hours of extra duty for members of the Daly City Police Department.

As in the past, a raft of prizes will be awarded winners. A total of more than $25,000 in prizes has been awarded in five previous tournaments.

Only Indians, Cubs Defeated In All Stars

The leaders of three of the baseball leagues sponsored by the Daly City Recreation proved decidely they had earned their top spots Saturday when they turned victories over all-star contingents made up of the best in the rest of the league.

Two other league leaders fell prey to all-star teams.

Here is a rundown of the action:

AMERICAN MIDGETS

Al Lieske's home run blast in the third inning proved to be the margin of victory for the league leading PAL Yankees over the All Stars.

Lieske also helped Dave Pinelli and Steve Manis to pitch the leaders to the win. Between them they set down 16 batters via the strikeout route and gave up only three singles.

Standing out on defense for the Yanks were John Harrison and Craig Cafferata.

The All-Stars got excellent pitching from Jerry Montague of the OLM Wolves, Leonard Hoffman of the OLPH Falcons and Archie Roboostoff of the BYA Rams. This duo also got 16 strikeouts but Montague's "gopher ball" to Lieske was the deciding factor.

All-Star catcher Dennis Albrecht brought the crowd to its feet with a great play to Jim Thorne at second that picked off Dede Pinelli and retired the Yanks at a crucial point of the game.

FAR WEST MIDGETS

The big name in Harvey Glass' book this week is Don Giles.

The BYA Renegades galloped over the Far West All Stars as Giles hurled a one-hitter.

Only hitter to tag the ball for the All-Stars was Steve Murray, who laid down a bunt in the seventh inning.

Giles struck out 13 batters as the Renegades triumphed 9-0.

At the plate Giles picked up three of the Renegades' five hits.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

The PAL Tigers, coached by George Pedroni and Bob Kramer, turned back the Junior League All Stars in convincing style with a 16-6 win.

The Tigers opened with a four-run first inning on a single by Rex Newby and bunts by Bully Olcese and Bob Nolan. The Tigers added another run in the third.

A disasterous All-Star sixth put the nails in the coffin as singles by Dennis Smith, Grady Proctor, Gary Senn and Carl Campas accounted for nine more runs.

The Tigers picked up two more when Alvez singled, Len Grossman walked and Lance DeRoo was given a gift on an error by the left fielder.

The All Star scoring came in bottom of the sixth when Russ Runge and Joe Anabale came home. The bottom of the eighth gave the All Stars four more runs as Rich Hall, Mike Caldarola, Don Belluomini and Jim Galeano scored.

NATIONAL MIDGETS

Coaches Fred Belluomini and Bob Payne gave a good deal of the credit to pitcher Tom Del Sarto for the 5-4 All Star win over the favored PAL Indians.

The Indians were without the services of ace pitcher Ralph Gage.

The lead see-sawed back and forth as the Indians opened with a 2-0 lead and the All Stars tied it up and then went ahead in the third.

REPLACES McKAMEY

New Tiger Grid Coach Is Named

A new head football coach for the Terra Nova Tigers has been named to succeed Gene McKamey. He is Robert H. Fisher, athletic director and head of the physical education department at Corcoran High School near Fresno.

Fisher had held the head football coach position at Corcoran for four years, head basketball coach for one year and assistant track coach for two years.

His duties, at Terra Nova, in addition to football, will include the assistant track position and teaching social science.

McKamey resigned earlier this year after coaching the Tigers for one season. With the Tiger squad depleted of veterans, the Terra Nova team finished in the cellar.

McKamey had been hired after Floyd Gonella, 1962 NPL Coach of the Year, was elevated to an assistant dean of boys' position and head of the physical education department.

Roger Miller will take over as department head this fall.

Fisher is a graduate of Whittier College, class of 1950, where he majored in physical education and minored in social science.

He played on the Whittier football team three years and on the baseball team two years.

The new head coach also attended Visalia Junior College for a year where he played all sports.

Fisher got in another year of football experience while serving a two-year stint in the service. He played for the Fort Sam Houston Rangers.

He began coaching at Yampa, Colo., in track and basketball.

He completed work for a general secondary credential in 1954 at Fresno State College.

He was head of the athletic department at Edwards, Calif., where he was also varsity basketball and track coach for six years, head football coach for three years and varsity line coach for three years.

Table Tennis Tourney Held

The Daly City Adult Table Tennis Club held its second doubles elimination tournament last week.

The winners were Robert Medina and Bill Block and the runners-up were Vilda Lauricella and Aida Barsam.

C.S.M. Hires Mat Coach

Lee D. Allen, two-time Olympic wrestler for the United States, was appointed last Wednesday to coach varsity wrestling at College of San Mateo.

Allen, 29, will succeed Herb Hudson, who is being released from coaching duties to devote more time to his responsibilities as college director of athletics.

The appointment was made by CSM's board of trustees.

A 1961 graduate of the University of Oregon, Allen has spent the last two years teaching physical education at Oregon high schools.

He was a member of the U. S. Olympics wrestling team in 1956 and 1960, winning eighth place the latter year in Roman-Greco wrestling.

In addition, he was a National AAU wrestling champion in 1954, 1957 and 1960, Pacifica Coast Collegiate champion in 1954 and 1957, and Far West Champion in 1953, 1954 and 1957.

CAR STOLEN

Thomas Trujuillo of Oakland, reported that someone stole his car and $160 in cash while he was taking a shower at a motel at 3255 Geneva Avenue.

Even the Clubs Are Made of Ticky Tacky

They're going to have to write a new song about ticky tacky teen clubs in Daly City being made up of teens from ticky tacky houses.

Realizing full well the significance of their action, the new teen club sponsored by the Daly City Department of Recreation have chosen the name "The Ticky Tacky Teen Club."

The name was chosen by the members in an election last week.

The new club for senior high school students living west of Junipero Serra Boulevard meets regularly every Tuesday evening during the summer. Activities generally alternate between a dance or sports night at Westmoor High School from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Coming activities for the club include a swim and barbecue on August 4; a dinner in Chinatown or at an Italian Restaurant on August 18; a trip to the State Fair on September 3 and a Bay Cruise - Boat Dance on September 8.

Next order of official business for this newly organized teen club is the selection and appointment of a permanent executive council to govern the operations of the club for the next year.

Membership nights for new members will be held next Tuesday and August 25 prior to the opening of school in the fall.

D.C. Youngsters See Mays Homer

More than 700 Daly City youngsters, accompanied by 100 parents, saw the Giants nip the Pirates, 2-1, recently at Candlestick Park. The outing was sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

Big thrill of the afternoon for the youngsters came when Willie Mays smacked a home run in the first inning.

Undefeated Teams Lead D.C. League

Two undefeated teams are the present leaders of the Daly City Recreation Department's High School Summer Basketball League.

In the Long Division the Mothers sport a perfect 3-0 record while in the Short Division the Huck Doon Pods are victorious in their first two games.

In last week's action the Mothers downed a surprisingly week Cuperic-Sulfates five 53-26 behind the balanced scoring of Paul Richards, Bob Molossi and Jim Belfrage.

In other Long Division play the Warriors withstood a gallant fourth quarter rally by a scrappy Laker team, to garner their first victory and hand the losers their third straight defeat.

Ron Mini's long range shooting and John Kirby's playmaking and clutch scoring paced the Warriors to their 38-35 win. John Alvarez scored nine of his game high 18 points in the fourth quarter rally for the Lakers.

The division's final game of the week and the leagues top played game to date, saw the Snappers nip the Whalers 60-57. Jim Mason's 32 points and the board work of Jerry Donovan and Tony Bento helped the Snappers to their victory.

Four of the Whaler players scored in double figures in their teams losing cause. Captain John Price scored 19 points before fouling out as his team couldn't fight off the determined challenge of the victors.

Short division games last week saw the league leading Huck Doon Pods withstand a determined Flipper five 38-30 behind the scoring and boardwork of Ed Larios and playmaking of Bill Jones.

The Flippers couldn't seem to get their attack going as they hit a miserable 26 per cent of their floor shots compared to the 33 per cent of the victors.

Other games saw the well drilled Bruins defeat a scrappy Boozers club 49-39 and in the leagues highest scoring, worst played game, the Playboys swamped the Ramrods 104-24.

IN FATHER-SON

Fairs Win First Tourney Round

The senior member of Daly City's Fair family sunk an 18-foot putt on the 18th hole of the championship flight to give the father-son duo of George and Jim a first round victory in the annual Roos-Atkins Father Son Golf tournament Sunday afternoon.

The Fairs toured the Golden Gate Park course with a one-under-par to defeat Jim and John Gallagher of San Francisco in match play.

The Daly City duo twice had margins of 3-up but had to settle for the 1-up victory as the Gallaghers came back.

Both families had 11 birdies in the match.

The Fairs took medalist honors last week with a 58 and are favored to take the title they wo last year.

Jim is a former Westmoor High School golfer and last semester carried the colors for College of San Mateo. The 18-year-old golfing ace earned a trip to the National Junior Championships last year by by taking a top spot in the California State Championships.

George Fair is an employee of the Jefferson Union High School District.

Match play will continue Saturday at Golden Gate Park.

Tigers Lead Tri-City Loop

Action in the Daly City Recreation Department's Tri-City Summer Baseball League continues hot and heavy as teams battle for the four playoff spots.

In last Sunday's games the Golden Eagles behind the tight pitching of Ron Mini downed the Jefferson A. C. nine 2-1. Mini's clutch pitching and Gerry Delays' and Ron Smiths' tight defensive play combined with the timely hitting of Marty Weymouth, Ron LaRosa and Ted Shaddox to hand George Bensons club their second defeat.

Al Nammani and George Egan each banged out three hits for the losers but they couldn't put the hits together.

Sunday's second game saw the South S. F. Recs forfeit to the Riordan A. C. when they could not field the required players.

This week's games features the battle between Parkmerced and the league leading Tigers tonight and Sunday's game between the Golden Eagles and the South S. F. Recs.

D.C. Residents Want Cafeterias, Survey Claims

THE CITIZENS' Committee for the Study of School Cafeterias in the Jefferson Elementary School District announced to board members recently that a survey of the district indicates that people favor the expansion of the district's cafeteria system.

Mrs. Jack Mitchell, chairman of this committee appointed by the board of trustees, announced that a good 30 per cent of the 9,000 questionnaires circulated throughout the district were returned and showed public approval for the construction of new cafeterias.

"At the beginning of our study we estimated that pro-cafeteria response would be 10 per cent and we were pleased with the larger reply," Mrs. Mitchell stated.

The committee told the board that available state funds should be used to open cafeterias at George Washington and Abraham Lincoln schools at the earliest feasible date. It further recommended that the entire system should be expanded to other schools within the district at a later time.

The two cafeterias now in operation at Colma Intermediate and Benjamin Franklin schools are to continue in their service, added the committee recommendation. Colma Intermediate serves students of Colma K-6 as well as its own.

MRS. MITCHELL said the committee advised cafeterias for George Washington and Abraham Lincoln schools because data compiled from the questionnaires indicated that parents in that area particularly want their children to patronize a school cafeteria.

She added that questionnaires also were circulated among faculty members.

"They considered a cafeteria on the premises to be advantageous," she continued.

Both George Washington and Abraham Lincoln schools have a high percentage of "bus" children and both schools will in all probability continue such an attendance, the recommendation revealed.

Parents of children who take the bus to school are more apt to want cafeteria facilities. A cafeteria located in these schools consequently would be used more regularly and by a greater number of children than one in which most children live within walking distance.

ALSO, continued the committee's report, both of these schools are located within a cluster of schools and if extension of cafeteria services is desired at a future time, either or both of the schools can serve one or more additional schools with a minimum of expense and effort.

It is the feeling of the committee that parents of Jefferson Elementary School District students definitely want and will utilize cafeteria facilities, particularly in the K-6 schools.

Mrs. Mitchell stressed that it also seems highly advisable to gradually extend the cafeteria system throughout the district until all K-6 and intermediate schools are included by the time the district has reached its maximum expansion point.

District Superintendent of Schools Richard L. Foster suggested to Mrs. Mitchell that a special meeting between the board and the committee be arranged soon to study further the findings of the group.

Who Says Summer Is Just for Vacations?

By MARILYN BRANNAN

MORE children are taking advantage of summer school facilities in northern San Mateo County than they did last year. The enrollment figure to date in four North County School Districts is 6,250 students, 1,314 above last year's total of 4,936.

A closer look at the individual districts shows Jefferson High School district with 1,250 students as compared to 1,167 at the same time last year; Jefferson Elementary School District has 1,924 as compared to 1,655.

The South San Francisco Unified School District reports 2,286 children this summer, a substantial increase over last year's 1,324.

The Laguna Salada District announces a combined enrollment figure of 790 with 440 children at Linda Mar School and 350 at Pacific Manor. Last year's figures were about the same, according to Marvin Morganti, principal of the district's summer schools.

Morganti says an unusual and enlightening aspect of this year's summer session centers around 11 teacher-trainees from the United States Peace Corp who are gaining direct experience in the district to prepare them for teaching assignments in Liberia this fall.

These young people are all graduates of San Francisco State College with various majors. "They are not teachers now but they will be in Liberia," Morganti states.

"They will replace native Liberian teachers who then will be free to further their educations and return to their country better equipped to teach Liberian youngsters," he explains.

ALL DISTRICT leaders are enthusiastic about this year's turn-out. Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent of school administration for the Jefferson Elementary School District says he is greatly encouraged by the active interest displayed by both teachers and students.

"I travel about from school to school, noting the busy classes, and I think back to the summer seven years ago when our program consisted of one school and 115 children," he says.

Today the elementary school district holds summer school in six schools: Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Edison, Fernando Rivera, Colma Intermediate, Woodrow Wilson and George Washington.

Louis J. Martin, principal of the Jefferson High School adult education and summer school program, is particularly pleased with this year's lack of drop-outs.

"Enrollment this year is much like it was last year, but our holding power has increased considerably," he announces. He added that at the end of the third week in 1963 the district had 1,167 students as compared to this year's 1,250.

"Average daily attendance for the same period of time was 198 last year and this year's ADA stands at 219," he proudly reports.

Schools represented at Jefferson High School are Oceana, Terra Nova, Westmoor and Jefferson.

"We also have an aggregate of from 60 to 70 students who regularly attend parochial school but whose parents are legal residents of the district," Martin adds.

SOUTH SAN Francisco's elementary school summer session is conducting an experimental reading program to prepare for an extensive remedial reading course in Septembzer, announces Vincent A. Gallo, principal of the elementary division of the district's summer school.

This special language arts class is designed for third grade children who could be doing better in reading.

"Nine out of the 16 summer school students participating in the experimental porgram have been found to have some attributing physical defect," says Gallo.

The summer session instructor, Winiferd Fowlke, is a trained nurse and teacher who will be among the special teachers to travel from school to school throughout the district this fall, he adds.

The high school summer school in the South San Francisco Unified School District is operating with maximum efficiency, reports Principal Earl Homan.

He says all classes are operating at full capacity with none dropped from the curriculum because of too few students.

Homan says the summer school's greatest worth lies particularly in the field of science.

"Students embark on four-hour-a-day science courses which enable them more concentrated study and lab time," he explains.

He cites the case of a biology field trip to Lake Merced this session in which students were able to collect their specimens and return immediately to the lab without any time lapse.

"Because of these uninterrupted labs, I believe summer school science courses are equally as good as those taught during the regular school year," he concludes.

Work Begins On Pacifica Drain Lines

Five years of discussion and debate about Pacifica's drainage problem took concrete steps toward solution Friday when ground breaking ceremonies for a new storm drainage pumping system were commemorated.

Members of the city council and planning commission, as well as contractors' representatives and property owners were on hand for the event.

The ceremony marked the first step in a multimillion dollar capital improvement program to be made over the next six years in Pacifica that was presented to councilmen recently by City Manager Karl A. Baldwin.

The major item in the improvement plan is a city-wide drainage program costing between $1,800,000 and $1,900,000. It will be financed both from tax revenue and bond issues.

The City Engineer's office says the new pump station will be in operation this winter and should help alleviate much of the area's drainage problem.

Contractors for this undertaking are O. C. Jones and Sons, Berkeley, general contractors, and Dale Williams of Daly City, subcontractor on the pump station.

Daly City Family Injured in Crash

Three members of a Daly City family were hurt Sunday in a traffic accident at El Camino Real and A Street in Colma.

Highway patrolmen said the crash involved autos driven by John Rivara, 157 Market Street, Daly City, and Verdean Dorothy Forsyth, 46 Cavour Street, Daly City. Both drivers and Mrs. Forsyth's daughter, Wanda, 15, and Cynthia, 16, were taken to Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco for treatment of bumps and bruises.

Lily S. Painter, 74, of Oakland, was injured seriously Sunday when her small foreign car crashed on Bayshore Freeway in Millbrae. She told officers that she felt ill and probably fainted. Her car veered off the roadway, struck a parked car and crashed into shrubbery. Mrs. Painter was admitted to Peninsula Hospital for treatment of face lacerations and internal injuries.

Marvin D. Sartain, 21-year-old lab assistant at the linear accelerator project at Stanford University, was treated at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital Sunday for injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident on a logging road on Kings Mountain. Sartain told officers he was trying to climb a steep hill when he was spilled off the motorcycle.

Mrs. Jean Franzen, 73, and Mrs. Etta Bushman, 81, both of 106 O'Connor Avenue, Menlo Park, were hurt Sunday night when Mrs. Franzen crashed her car into the side of the Safeway store at 1980 Manhattan Avenue, East Palo Alto. They were treated at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

DIRT SCATTERED

The Westlake Clubhouse in Daly City had dirt scattered over its floors by vandals over the weekend, police reported. Nothing was stolen or broken, however.

S.S.F. Girl's Clothes Burn

Nine-year-old Karen Maxine Lescourt was severely burned this weekend in her South San Francisco home when her pajamas caught fire from a cigarette lighter.

Police Officer Ronald Sullivan reported he was driving past the Lescourt home at 791 Newman Drive when Mrs. Lescourt ran into the street and waved to him.

She said her daughter had been playing with a lighter and had set fire to her pajamas, Sullivan reported.

He rushed the girl and her mother to Kaiser Foundation Emergency Hospital. The girl was said to have suffered first, second, and third degree burns over her chest and abdomen.

Fair Housing Proponents Form Bureau

The chairman of Pacificans for Fair Housing, Mike Haggerty, announced formation of a speakers bureau Monday.

The speakers will explain Proposition 14, a proposed amendment to the State Constitution concerning fair housing, he said:

"Speakers will explain the issues of Proposition 14 as they affect buyers and sellers. They will clarify these points that may tend to generate emotional action because of misunderstanding," Haggerty said.

He offered the services of speakers to program chairman of local groups, emphasizing that they would bring to the memberships lively and informative material.

This information, Haggerty pointed out, will be of great value to thinking voters for their decision on election day in November.

Arrangement for speakers may be made by phoning 359-3505.

Assemblyman Ryan Slates Asian Tour

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan announced last week that because of his invitation to visit Japan as a guest of the Japanese government, he has made arrangements to tour the Philippine Islands, Hong Hong, and Nationalist China on the Island of Formosa.

At the present time, he has plans to talk with the prime minister of Nationalist China, and with high government officials in the Philippine Islands.

He has received a special invitation to talk with the chancellor of the University of Hong Kong about Asian education.

"Since we are all neighbors around the Pacific basin, it is important that we do everything possible to understand our neighbors," he said.

"After all, when the most distant point in the Pacific is less than 24 hours away from our homes here in San Mateo County, it is important for us to recognize that our neighbors are very close to us, as we are close to them."

Visitors From Japan

Stallings Is Going Along On Fair Hall

County Manager E. R. Stallings said last week that his concept of what the proposed convention center at the county fairgrounds in San Mateo should look like is changing.

It may not be advisable, he said, to put up an entirely new building that would serve as a combination theater-auditorium-convention center.

Remodeling of the Hall of Flowers on the fairgrounds to meet the requirements of a convention center might suffice, Stallings said.

Stallings explained that he no longer feels that a large theater auditorium is practical because the two theaters-in-the-round that are being built in San Carlos and Burlingame. They will be featuring the type of entertainment that had been planned for the fairgrounds theater, he said.

A special committee has recommended that the Hall of Flowers, which was found last year to have structural defects, be rehabilitated.

Stallings said the job of making the structure suitable for other purposes could be incorporated with the reconstruction work.

It might be possible, he said, to serve the needs of the proposed center by doing this and by building an annex onto the Hall of Flowers.

Stallings briefed the special committee that is studying the fair's problems on his idea Tuesday. It was noted that the suggestion would leave room for a garden center and thereby solve another problem—the complaints by members of garden clubs that they have not had adequate facilities at the fair.

Anthony Gaggero and St. George Lafitte, members of the fair board of directors, told the committee that they thought it could be worked out.

Stallings cautioned that his idea does not have the approval of the County Board of Supervisors, which over the past several years has been talking about a brand new convention center and auditorium that would seat 3,500 and cost in the neighborhood of $3.5 million.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

SUMMER TIME has brought a flurry of activity to the home of Mrs. Mary Christofani of Pacifica.

Mrs. Christofani is continuing her work to organize the Pacifica branch of the Navy Mothers of America and reports that that unit will submit its charter to the national office later this month for approval.

With the Pacifica group under way, Mrs. Christofani has offered to aid the Daly City contact mothers with their drive to establish a Navy Mothers' group in Daly City.

Mrs. Lucile Jones and Mrs. Frances Hawkins have been organizing a club in Daly City since April and it is their hope to have their charter signed and submitted for approval before the end of July.

Mothers who live in Daly City who have had sons and/or daughters who have served in the Navy, Marine Corp or Coast Guard or the reserve units of those branches of the military, are requested to call Mrs. Jones, PL 5-1674 or Mrs. Hawkins, WY 2-4772, for information about this benevolent organization.

Interested mothers who are unable to reach Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Hawkins may contact Mrs. Christofani, 359-1508, who will gladly supply information about either of the two new units.

In other activity centered in the Christofani household, Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Shanke and 2-month-old Kenny Franklin Shanke of New Mexico were recent house guests. Shanke, Mrs. Chrstofani's nephew, made a special trek to Pacifica to be on hand when his cousin Michael graduated from Terra Nova High School.

Following the visit by the Shanke's, Michael, his brother, Gary, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Christofani, visited Chico for a week of relaxation then returned to Forestville, on the Russian River, where the boys will stay with their aunt, Mrs. Lenore Shanke.

With the boys enjoying the sun and water sports on the river, Christofani and his wife plan to junket to Reno for a week.

Still two more members of the Christofani family, Mrs. Orlanda Christofani of Burlingame, and her daughter, Joan, are touring Europe on a seven-week vacation that has taken them over much of western Europe and to the Vatican where they were blessed by the Pope.

VACATION plans for the family of Walter Misterman almost ended tragically when Misterman was stricken while preparing to leave on a motor trip East which was to have taken them to visit family in Philadelphia and on to the New York World's Fair.

Emergency surgery and more than a week in the hospital have set Misterman back on the road to recovery but he still must take it easy for some time, according to his wife, Harriet.

☆ ☆ ☆

MR. AND MRS. Joseph Intachi of Westlake christened their new trailer by giving a cocktail party in it for a group of friends before the family departed for two weeks at Lake Tahoe.

☆ ☆ ☆

ALSO HOME after a vacation trip are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harris, Michele, Susan, Tommy and Donald, of San Bruno.

The Harris family camped at Yosemite Valley and celebrated Donald's second birthday and the Fourth of July in the beautiful valley.

The family took advantage of the locale to do some burro riding, a lot of trout fishing and some hiking in addition to the usual sightseeing trips to Glacier Point and Mirror Lake.

☆ ☆ ☆

LOCAL friends of Patti Stolz, the vivacious director of the Daly City Community Chorus will be pleased to hear that she has made several guest appearances with the Mike Mafay Trio at the Hillsdale Inn during recent weeks.

The entry into a new field of singing has been arranged to help Mrs. Stolz prepare to make a record some time later this year.

PLAN FOR the Pacific Art and Fuchsia Fiesta, to be staged jointly by the Pacifica branch of the American Fuchsia Society and the Pacifica Artist's Guild are developing rapidly, according to Mrs. Sherri Thomas.

Currently in the works is a plan to enlist the aid of all Pacificans in making the show truly a community event, Mrs. Thomas said. According to current plans members of the community will be asked to help carry out the theme of the fiesta by wearing Spanish attire when visiting the Sanchez Adobe during the show.

Extensive planning has gone into the feista theme, Mrs. Thomas reports, and the historic adobe should look like a page from a history book when the show gets under way August 22 and 23.

At least two folk dance groups will be on hand to present dances from the period when this area was under Spanish rule. Strolling musicians will roam about the grounds setting the proper musical mood for a journey back in time and it is hoped that a troupe of tiny ballerinas will perform on the rolling green grounds.

A special nook has been set aside to house paintings of Sanchez Adobe done by members of the Pacifica artists' colony and the canvases will be offered for sale. Also on display will be the newly selected "official" portrait of the building which will have a permanent home in the adobe.

Dianne June Starkovich and Selwyn Colon of Daly City were married recently in a nuptial mass at Holy Angels Catholic Church in Colma.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Starkovich of 41 Teresa Street, wore a gown of belene white silk organza with chapel train embroidered with streamers of Chantilly Rosepoint lace falling from an organza bow. The gown had a scalloped lace fitted bodice with seeded pearls and elbow sleeves.

The illusion veil had a pearl crown with crystal tear drops.

The new Mrs. Colon's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her going away suit was tiel blue silk with royal blue accessories and a white orchid.

The bride is a graduate of Jefferson High School, and the American Institute of Banking in San Francisco. She was given away by her father.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Santiago of 880 Brunswick Street, Daly City. He is a graduate of Polytechnic High School in San Francisco.

Joan Sontag was maid of honor and David Cohn, brother of the groom, was the best man.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mary Dimaggio, Mrs. Gary Stagnero, Carole Benson, Lea Carlisle and Lois Tylenda, cousin of the bride.

Ushers were Jeffrey Starkovich, the bride's brother, Roger Lorenz, Walter Skaggs, Michael Peck and Albert Cornejo.

Officiating at the nuptials was the Reverend Richard Long. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Slovenian Hall in San Francisco. The couple honeymooned in Las Vegas and Southern California.

They plan to make their home in Daly City.

Workshop Schedules A Reading

As a bonus for season subscribers, The Actor's Workshop will present noted actor-author Emlyn Williams in his acclaimed Charles Dickens readings. The special event, scheduled for early in the new year, will be part of the Workshop's 1964-65 season at Marines' Theater.

Subscribers are automatically assured seats for Williams' engagement. The growth of Workshop subscription — over 100% above last year, may result in a complete sellout for the Wiliams event before the season opens in October.

Subscription renewals alone have already pushed the Workshop list to more than 3,000. The professional theater is now embarked on a campaign for new subscribers, with 18% to 20% savings offered on the season of seven productions including Williams.

Information and subscription order forms are available at the Workshop office, 609 Sutter Street, San Francisco, or by phone at PR 5-4232.

Williams' acting and writing career has embraced two continents. He is currently appearing as Pope Pius XII in the controversial Broadway drama "The Deputy."

Other recent Broadway appearances include the adaptation of Morris West's novel "Daughter of Silence" and the award-winning "Man for All Seasons," in which he followed Paul Scofield in the role of Sir Thomas More.

His best-known plays include "Night Must Fall" and "The Corn Is Green," which starred Ethel Barrymore. His autobiography, "George," was published recently.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

WE LIVE in a remarkable age. We were forcefully reminded of this when we boarded our plane at the San Francisco Airport and just eight hours later were landing in Kentucky. Just to think that it took the early settlers months to travel across the area we were able to traverse in a matter of hours.

And they had the other little inconveniences such as, Indian attacks, no water, and no instant potatoes. Golly!

The weather here in Louisville is quite a change from our Westlake variety. The days are quite hot and the evenings are warm, inviting you to sit on the front porch, visit with your neighbors and drink mint juleps.

But the good cooks here don't spend all their time rocking on the front porch. They take time to prepare delicious food to be served when those neighbors drop in. Such as these cookies.

FILLED TEA COOKIES

- 1¾ cups sifted flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup butter or margarine
- ¾ cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift the dry ingredients together. In a large mixing bowl cream the butter and gradually add the sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Blend in the eggs, one at a time. Beat one minute. Next add two tablespoons of milk and the vanilla. Add the sifted dry ingredients gradually and mix well.

Drop by level teaspoonful onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes.

Cool the cookies and spread chocolate filling between two cookies. Place bottoms of cookies together, sandwich style.

CHOCOLATE FILLING

- 1½ cups sifted powdered sugar
- 3 tablespoons cocoa
- ⅛ teaspoons salt
- 3 tablespoon hot cream
- 3 tablespoons butter
- ½ teaspoons vanilla

Combine the powdered sugar, cocoa and salt. Cream the butter and blend in the hot cream alternately with the dry ingredients. Add vanilla and beat well. Thin with additional cream if necessary.

For a delicious dessert gingerbread seems to be a great favorite with almost every one. This recipe, with its delicious lemon sauce has long been a special treat in my mother's home.

GINGERBREAD

- ¾ cup melted shortening
- 1¼ cups brown sugar
- ¾ cup dark molasses
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2½ cups flour
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1½ teaspoon ginger
- 1½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water

Mix together shortening, sugar, molasses and eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture. Blend well and lastly add the boiling water.

Mix and pour into 10-inch square greased and floured pan. Bake in 350-degree oven, 20 to 25 minutes. Let cool in pan.

LEMON SAUCE

- 2/3 cup sugar
- 1½ cups boiling water
- 1½ tablespoons corn starch
- 1½ tablespoons butter
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 8 thin slices lemon

Combine the sugar and boiling water; stir in the cornstarch and butter, thoroughly creamed together. Cook and stir until mixture thickens; then add lemon juice and lemon slices. Simmer a few minutes. Serve over gingerbread.

HAVE YOU made refrigerator cookies lately? They are so good and really quite simple to make. Being in a hurry with packing and shopping for my trip, those two qualities recommend them highly to me.

LEMON REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

- 3 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- Grated rind of one lemon
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice

Measure and sift dry ingredients. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming after each addition until well blended. Beat in eggs and lemon juice and grated rind. Add the sifted dry ingredients and blend well.

Divide dough in half. Shape half a time into a roll. Wrap in waxed paper and chill until firm (about three hours) or overnight. Place chilled rolls on cutting board covered with waxed paper. Cut one-eighth inch slices; place on ungreased cookie sheets.

Bake in 400-degree oven about 10 minutes. Yields about seven dozen cookies.

BETTER BUSINESS

Self-Regulation Of Ads Explained

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau "Barometer"

THERE ARE four main types of self-regulation, quite different in scope, objective, problems and operating machinery, used in today's advertising field.

They are (1) self-regulation by individual advertisers, companies and corporations, (2) self-regulation by individual industries and industry groups, (3) self-regulation by advertising trade associations and, (4) self-regulation by advertising media by publishers and broadcasters acting both independently and through their media associations.

Twenty-five years ago self-regulation by individual advertisers, which meant the adoption and enforcement of specific rules or codes of advertising standards and ethics, was a rarity.

In the past few years, individual codes have become common and there has been a high development of machinery for insuring compliance with the law, particularly among the larger advertisers.

Self-regulation by industries requires that a group of companies in the same field get together and agree on a standard code of ethics and practices. Machinery is then set up to ensure adherence to this code by the members of their own industry.

UNLIKE government regulation, the codes do not have sharp teeth and enforcement penalties but are important because the self-regulation practiced is voluntary and not the result of group pressure. Also, because the code reflects the policy of top management. Certain types of self-regulation are strictly forbidden for anti-trust reasons and such codes, unless drawn with extreme care, can run afoul of such anti-trust laws.

Two competitiors, Proctor and Gamble and Lever Brothers, have almost the same advertising pattern. All basic facts about a product's performance are presented to the advertising copy section who work with the company's agencies in the development of copy before it is submitted to the legal section.

THE LEGAL section is entirely separate from the advertising department. It covers the matters of law and fact and is based on the rules and policies developed by the company.

General Foods advertising policy provides that all product's claims, performance, quality and value, first be approved by an advertising policy committee composed of representatives from the advertising, merchandising, products control, public relations and legal departments. Approved claims are then released to the advertising department and General Foods agency. Final copy is checked for adherence.

Norwich Pharmacal Company's advertising material is reviewed by both medical and legal departments. Additional review is also provided by the sales department.

Revlon employs 122 people in their laboratories, including doctors and scientists at Ph.D. level. Final precautions are the responsibility of an officer of the company and the legal department.

THE DECISIONS of the legal department are usually considered final in most companies and can not be over-ridden except on specsific authority of top management, most generally the president or member of the board.

Some advertisers draft their own guidelines on matter of taste. Falstaff Brewing Corporation has a list of advertising "Do's and Don'ts." Any appeal to children or minors in the Falstaff advertising is out; tavern and restaurant scenes must be shown in respectable atmosphere; kissing scenes are not permitted and any words implying that Falstaff gives a "lift" must be avoided.

There is an increasing awareness among corporate managements of ethical responsibilities to customers and the public as well as to stockholders and employees.

Purex Corporation, Ltd., considers its advertising in the same category as one of their products and rules "the least we can do—regardless of what our competitors may do, or how they may tempt us into retaliation—is to apply the same policy to it that we do to Purex products."

A Regal Showing

WHAT A BEAUTY! Whether Westlake Merchants Asociation President Morris Levine is admiring the 1964 Ford Mustang, or Karen Soltau, Miss Daly City, is a moot point. The Mustang is the key attraction in a $5,000 prize drawing to be held by Westlake merchants on July 31. Miss Soltau, Daly City's reigning queen, is not an acessory, but an attractive complement to the new car. The Mustang is on display in the shopping center mall, where free tickets are being given away to Westlake shoppers at two booths. Karen, meanwhile, will be busy reigning over "Daly City Day" festivities at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta which opens next week. (Post-Times photo)

International Airport Lot To Be Paved

The San Francisco City Public Utilities Commission last week awarded a contract for the paving of an employes' parking lot at International Airport and revived a request for funds for repaving of the pot-holed No. 2 public parking lot.

The PUC is seeking $93,000 for the No. 2 lot paving. A similar request was earlier tabled by the Finance Committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors on the basis that Barrett Transportation Company, which operates the lot, should pay for the paving.

City Attorney Thomas O'Connor, asked for an opinion, has ruled that it is legal for the city to finance the paving project.

The contract for paving of the employes' parking area was awarded to FF&M Company on a low bid of $69,285.

In another action Wednesday, the PUC requested Belford Brown, airport manager, to develop a program for posting of directional signs at the airport for motorists.

Firm Unveils Home Design

The Galli Construction Company is scheduled to unveil a new townhouse design in the Diamond Heights section of San Francisco sometime this month.

The three-bedroom, two-bath homes, designed by Hayes and Smith, offer a combination of spectacular view and level exterior space for family activities.

For family activities, the kitchen family area is directly connected to a spacious main deck with sliding glass doors. Exterior material is resawn redwood siding with a structural system of steel beams and concrete columns.

2 Locals on Summer Staff

Two educators from the Daly City area are among the more than 400 faculty members of the San Francisco State College summer staff. There are fifty visiting faculty.

According to Dean Raymond N. Doyle, head of the Summer Sessions program, the current enrollment is substantially larger than previous years. He said that in addition to the regular classes there are special projects on campus including the Peace Corps, National Science Foundation Institutes, and Foreign Language Institutes.

Included are Charles Gilbert, an instructor from Daly City who lives at 238 Lincoln Street, and Ronald Hochede, an instructor in the Daly City schools, whose home is 81 Longview Street.

WINDOWS CRACKED

Lorraine Williams, of 71 Fairlawn Drive, Daly City, said that someone fired air rifle shots at her window which cracked but did not break.

New Tissue Introduced

Aurora, a new tow-layer, softly scented bathroom tissue has just recently been introduced to markets in this area by North Parducts, Marathon Division of American Can Company, according to district sales manager Robert Grant of San Carlos.

This new product is two-tone pastel on the outside and white inside. There are two rolls to the the package; one ready and one wrapped to store.

Drive In Service

Morris Plan Figures Drop

Net income for The Morris Plan Company for the six months ending June 30 amounted to $432,482 or 69 cents per share in 1964 compared to $442,427 or 71 cents per share (adjusted for stock split) in 1963, according to an announcement made by Ralph N. Larson, president.

The company showed a gain in outstanding loans and retail sales contracts of $5,075,000 to a new high of $105,466,000 and reserves for unearned interest and discount increased by $836,000 to $12,009,000 during the period.

COMMENT

Our Police Had 'Class'

DALY CITY has had its Republican National convention, and it should be obvious to the world by now that no city could have done any better in the handling of crowds, demonstrators and potentially explosive situations.

While Daly City's police certainly had plenty of expert assistance, it was the responsibility of this city's municipal force to maintain law and order during the entire convention.

Under the supervision of Chief Roland A. Petrocchi, the police calmly kept civil rights and other demonstrations in the non-violent class. Critics had wondered how a city with a tiny three-cell jail could possibly meet the law enforcement needs of a national political convention.

EXPERT leadership and exhaustive training paid off for the Daly City special police force. Sit-ins, lie-ins and other forms of demonstrations that have proved more than a match for larger police forces across the country were taken in stride by the Daly City contingent and their fellow officers from the Peninsula (San Francisco's force was standing by, but only had to be called in during one minor scuffle on Geneva Avenue). Even a three-cell jail proved more than adequate. Not a single arrest was necessary.

Special training equipped Daly City police with the physical and mental preparedness to cope with the almost limitless number of potential emergencies. Much of this training, we have learned, was undertaken by officers on their own time. Most officers worked two shifts, one to take care of their regular beat, the second to work the Cow Palace stint.

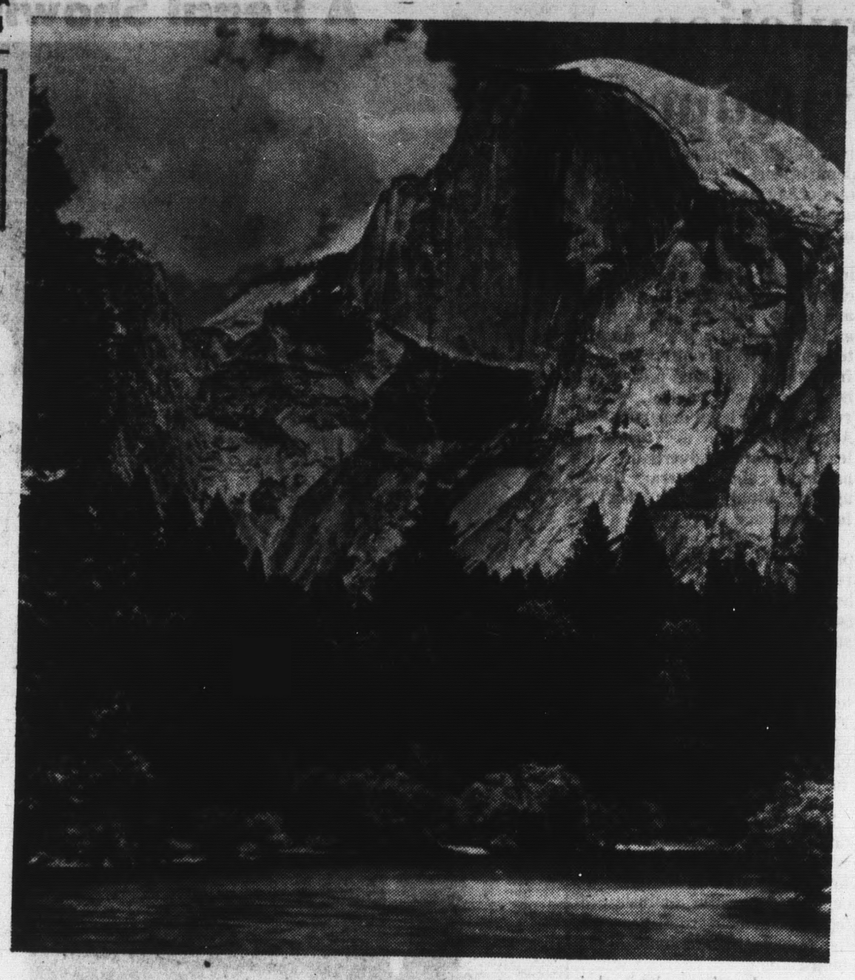
EVEN THE BEADY eye of the television camera did not ruffle the equanimity of the special police.

Daly City added further laurels to its richly earned title as the perfect host when local firemen snuffed out with dispatch a blaze that had started on one of the cattle ramps. It marked the first time a Daly City fire had been covered on transcontinental television. A noted television commentator remarked to his nationwide audience on the efficiency of the Daly City firemen.

Law enforcement agencies throughout San Mateo County, and more particularly Daly City, deserve the applause of the nation for their performances.

Even some of the CORE demonstrators confided that the Cow Palace police had "class."

A Yosemite Landmark



HALF DOME, standing at the head of Yosemite Valley, is a prominent landmark rising 4,850 feet above the valley floor. The top of this granite mass is often enshrouded in clouds, and its face is usually the last feature to catch the glow of the setting sun. Yosemite National Park is one of the most beautiful of all parks in California. Several trips to the park at different times of the year must be made to appreciate all the beauty it has to offer. This is another in a series of photos, depicting parks and historical areas within a day's driving time of the North County.

They Sailed Out Of Yesteryear

Don Miller

NEW YORK — Home-bound commuters, barreling up this city's frantic West Side Highway the other day, were greeted by a sight that must have made them wonder if they had not suddenly wheeled into the last century.

For there, moored in the broad expanse of the Hudson River, were 11 reminders of an age in which tall-masted sailing ships ruled majestically over the seas of the world.

They were the ships of Operation Sail — a memorable gathering of square-rigged sailing ships—a flotilla or proud vessels manned by the cadets of nine nations. These ships and their crews had gathered as the finale of an ambitious undertaking that had been planned for more than three years.

Riding gently at anchor north of Manhattan's West 75th Street, the windships were an anachronism — framed, as they were, by the steel and glass towers of this tomorrow-minded metropolis, by the giant trans-Atlantic liners moored at piers to the south, by the busy complex of industry that lines the New Jersey shore and by that inspiring testimony to man's know-how in the 20th Century — the George Washington Bridge.

The windjammers had gathered earlier in Gravesend Bay outside New York Harbor where they had dropped anchor after sailing from Bermuda. Eight of the vessels had reached Bermuda after participating in a spirited race across the Atlantic from Europe —a contest of sail the likes of which probably never will be repeated again.

At an appointed hour, the ships weighed anchor at Gravesend and began a stately procession into New York harbor—the busiest in the world—a harbor that had been dominated by sail for more than 200 years until steam replaced wind and the whine of a generator replaced the creaking of riffing aloft.

The flotilla, proudly led by America's Eagle, the Coast Guard Academy's 295-foot training bark, first proceeded under power, spaced at intervals of about 1,000 feet.

As each vessel drew abreast of the reviewing ship, the Navy carrier Randolph, the windjammers' cadets scrambled into the rigging to make sail and at this point Operation Sail became a spectacle that thrilled every salt, young and old, who was on hand to view this procession out of yesteryear.

OUR VANTAGE point was a zealously guarded portion of seawall railing at Battery Park, a cool, green sanctuary at the bottom of Manhattan that is the favorite lunch hour retreat of thousands of this city's Wall Street businessmen.

At Battery Park, the view of Operation Sail turned out to be on the spectacular side. From our railing we peered out at eight destroyers and a coast guard cutter, crowded with dignitaries, moored along the western side of the Narrows, the entrance channel from the Atlantic to New York Harbor.

These ships formed an official reviewing and welcoming line in addition to the Randolph. Bobbing all about were hundreds of small spectator craft — ranging from a Chinese junk to a ingenuitive replica of a Viking ship, her mast stepped smartly amidship with a striped, square sail drawing the soft wind.

The procession, as it could be seen from Battery Park, at first seemed a ghostly affair. For the Narrows were enveloped in smog (yes, this city has that stuff, too) and as each ship slipped out of the gloom, it appeared as if you were seeing something that really wasn't happening—the same sort of feeling those West Side Highway commuters must have experienced later on.

But happening it was and led by Eagle, the windships majestically proceeded down the reviewing line, past the 10,000 or so of us crowding Battery Park and past the liners Queen Elizabeth and Rotterdam, which had arrived only an hour before.

Following Eagle was Argentina's 300-foot, full-rigged ship, Libertad, her rails lined with cadets in dress whites. Built in 1959, she was the youngest vessel in the flotilla.

★ ★ ★

NEXT IN LINE was the fleet's biggest square-rigger, Chile's strikingly beautiful four-masted Esmeralda, at 366 feet the biggest ship in the procession—a ship we had seen in San Francisco only a year prior.

Behind Esmerelda was Denmark's 213 foot Danmark, a 213-foot all-steel full rigged ship. Astern of the Danmark was Germany's Gorch Foch, a sister ship of the Eagle.

The Germans were followed by the 191-foot barkentine, Dewarutji, the most ambitious of the vessels for she had sailed halfway around the world as the representative of Indonesia.

Then came three proud ships from Norway—the 205-foot, full-rigged Christian Radich, the 185-foot Sorlandet and the 258-foot bark, Statsraad Lehmkuhl. When the Christian Radich hove into view, a murmur of recognition swept through the crowd for this was the ship that appeared in the film, "Windjammer," a movie, incidentally, we won't tell you how many times we've seen.

After the Norse ships came Portugal's 291-foot bark, Sagres. The procession's rear guard was brought up by one of the most esthetically appealing windjammers of the fleet, Spain's 308-foot, four-masted barkentine, the Juan Sebastian de Elcano.

Accompanying these tall-masted ships were 12 smaller sailing vessels from several nations—making, all told, 23 ships in the procession.

When they all had finally passed up the Hudson, we couldn't help but think that Operation Sail should have been called "Operation Nostalgia."

For we're sure there were a number of old salts gathered along the shores who remembered those days when sail was still king. They probably lamented the king was dethroned and we can't say in this day of hurry up that we don't agree with them.

Statistics Can Be Fascinating

Ron Bates

STATISTICS have always fascinated me.

I guess it was probably this interest in figures that took me to the Fiesta Dream Girl contest at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds last Thursday where, in case you haven't heard, Miss San Carlos (35-24-35) was chosen to reign over the affair.

Now if you add up all the statistics given on the 12 girls that were competing for the title, the Dream Girl would have measurements of 36-23-36. It would appear from this that our new beauty queen would be just slightly undernourished —but she's not.

As any good statistician knows, however, you must adjust for figures that would distort the average, In this case, it is Miss Belmont, Ruthellen Reite, who tips the tape with a handsome 40-25-37.

Incidentally, Miss Reite includes discus throwing as a hobby and has hit 98 feet.

You may say that too much emphasis is put on statistics like these nowadays. And you are probably right, but it makes for a good conversation.

If you recall, there was a hassle last year over these statistics when Louisa Borcherding won the Dream Girl title. One of the gals who was not chosen, claimed Louisa used adhesive tape, strategically placed, to make a false impression.

I wish I were a detective at the time, cause (if you'll pardon the pun) it was a time for some good undercover work. I would have volunteered my time of course.

Miss Borcherding was proven innocent of foul play but the furor that was caused prompted officials in the various cities to become very conscious of built in things in bathing suits. In Daly Cty, for example, the girls were told to "cut it out."

Then the fair officials decided this year to provide all the contestants with white bathing suits which included (yep, you gusesed it) those built in things.

ONE OF the city officials invited to the fiesta contest suggested that this whole problem could be solved in future contests now with the introduction of the topless bathing suits. At least one entrant, Miss Half Moon Bay, said nix. I don't see why though. It's only a crime when someone who doesn't have measurements like her wears the topless.

Paul Speegle, a television columnist for one of the San Francisco papers, was once again the master of ceremonies. I understand he gets paid for talking to these gals. All I can say is, "What a racket."

He must have been tired from watching the Republican Convention in Daly City because his normal wit was only half there.

Despite this, the personalities of some of the beauties showed through.

The winner, Georgina Hillerby of San Carlos, for example, won the applause of the loyal few when she said she was a Giants' fan.

When Speegle remarked that last year most of the contestants were taking up home economics and this year it is business, the sharp beauty said, "that's because the woman in the kitchen is being replaced by automation. All you do is push a few buttons."

There's probably some truth in that statement, but to keep some of my woman readers, I won't completely endorse that. Besides my wife won't let me.

If I can borrow from Vin Stratton's Rotary bulletin, "My wife's the best cook you ever thaw."

IT WAS EVIDENT that Miss San Carlos had both beauty and brains, but I bet I could start an investigation if I wanted to.

Two San Carlos Councilmen were sitting opposite us and just before the judging took place, they got together with George McQueen and bought an ad in the Fiesta edition.

The city had always been reluctant to buy an ad in years previous. A little while later, Miss San Carlos was named the winner. Forsooth'. Was there skullduggery afoot?

Speegle did have some well-timed comments that were funny, I'll have to admit.

For example when most of the gals indicated they were headed to college, he commented, "I'm glad to see that the intelligence of our nation is being raised. After what happened at the recent convention, I think we desperately need it."

Or when Louise Leitner, Miss South San Francisco stood beisde him with her hands behind her back he said, "The word must have got back to them. When we first started they let me hold their hand. Now, look at them. They're putting their hands behind their back and standing far away."

EVEN THE politicians got into the act. The surest way to get people to notice you is to surround yourself with a bunch of pretty girls. Then again, I wonder about that. Who's going to look at you with all that talent around.

Anyway they got into the act. Assemblymen Leo Ryan from the north county and Ike Britiscghi from the souht county placed the Fiesta Girl streamer around her and Supervisor Jim Fitzgerald gave her a bouquet of roses.

On leaving, I overheard one councilman, who had come to the contest unescorted, say, "Well I guess I'll go home and throw rocks at my wife."

Well, I guess I'll have to put my tape measure away now until next year.

The Marquee

Reflections Of a Star

Barbara Bladen

"THE GREAT factories of movie making are gone forever. We lived big and had a ball but it will never come again."

Dan Dailey, ruddy complexion, heavier than when we saw him two years ago in "Take Me Along" at the Garden Court and much older than he was in "Pride of St. Louis," the Dizzy Dean portrayal that played this week on television's late show, pronounced this epitaph on Hollywood over lunch with the critics.

Back in the Bay Area, this time as Sky Masterson in the Ben Kapan production of "Guys and Dolls" which opened last night at Melodyland in Berkeley, one of Hollywood's once fair sons breezily reminisced over those heydays of his career.

"Dizzy is a very funny guy and very rich. I see him and his beautiful wife whenever I'm in Dallas where they have a home. He still broadcasts 'Game of the Week.' Do you realize that he only played in the National League for four years and yet the story of his life made a successful film. The Babe Ruth Story flopped."

THE SONG and dance man admits to making more than 100 movies but won't talk about most of them. He recently completed a mystery in Spain with Gene Tierney entitled "Dark Reflections."

But he likes playing summer theaters and tours the circuits with "Take Me Along," "Guys and Dolls" (he played it for eight months in Las Vegas with Betty Grable and will also do it for the Hyatt Music Theatre) and a musical version of "Burlesque."

Still in demand for the relaxed, easy manner he gives a role, Dailey doesn't hoof it around the country's stages the way he did for 20 years as a movie star. "Oh, I dance a little on the way to and from the dressing room just for practice," he quipped.

COMMUNICATIVE and full of funny stories, he admits that working in Europe appeals to him.

"Take Spain, for instance. The movie company pays my expenses. The living is cheap. We can live it up, go to the races at 4 p.m., have fun and so what if the film is lousy. No one in this country ever sees them if they are bad enough, anyway."

Muriel Brown of Palo Alto will play Sara Brown in this latest production of the Damon Runyon musical (which was done so expertly recently at the Capuchino High School).

"I like the show," he admits, "and it's familiar to say the least. Some nights I just close my eyes and go through it."

This brought a small twinge to producer Kapan's brow.

"I made big money once, and lots of movies but I'm not making a dime on any of them now. I had a lousy contract. But I had bought a big ranch at Chatsworth years ago, tried to raise horses and commercial cattle. So I sold the house and kept the acreage for my old age."

He laughs easily, jokes frequently, talks about his career with tongue-in-cheek and has an aura of Sky Masterson about him.

Peninsula Panorama

The Sweet Life Gets Sweeter

George Whitesell

DESPITE THE dentists, the tooth paste commercials, the doctors, and the bathroom scales, life on the Peninsula is getting sweeter all the time.

Figures covering the 1962 candy consumption show that the per capita intake of sweets in that year was 17 pounds and 11 ounces.

That was nine ounces, more than half a pound, in excess of 1961.

Heaven only knows how much candy we are knocking off in 1964, but with the upward trend if you don't get at least 18 pounds of the stuff you are being cheated.

With candy bars selling at a dime, the individual candy budget is going up by about 50 cents per year.

But nationwide cash-on-the-counter sales of candy jumped by about five per cent which indicates the price was mounting even faster than the calories.

National total of candy purchased in 1962 was a tidy sum of $1.32 billion.

Who said the candy mountains were an legend?

AND, OF COURSE "boughten" candy is only a part of the whole sweet story.

Nobody will ever know how much homemade fudge and other home cooked confections and candies are consumed in a year.

Peninsulans put away plenty of homemade candy every year and at Christmas time few people can escape from it.

For that matter, candy alone is not enough to satisfy the Peninsula sweet tooth.

We don't have figures on the other items, but every reader has a good idea of how often he has dipped into the cookie jar.

He knows, too, how often he has succumbed to the blandishments of large hunks of luscious cake thickly spread with icing that would make a dietitian's hair stand on end.

And how about those iced doughnuts, maple bars, coffee cakes and Danish pastry with sugar topping?

And we haven't even started to talk pie.

NOR HAVE we mentioned ice cream, sherbet, and the other frozen confections that are popular now since almost every Peninsulan has a deep-freeze or a frozen foods compartment.

It is our duty to point out that pancakes with a dozen different kinds of syrups have become a popular treat in these parts.

And, as your supermarket will tell you, jams and jellies are selling by leaps and bounds.

Cloying, isn't it?

It takes a hardy soul to exist among all these sweet treats and not bow to the inevitable overpowering temptation.

A few Peninsulans can do it and can show svelte figures as a result.

But such fortitude is beyond the imagination of this department. You can go just so far and then you've got to have a cherry in your Manhattan.

When someone shoves a box of chocolates under your nose it is easier to do what just comes naturally.

★ ★ ★

THE TRUTH we suspect, is that we have quite a bit of sweet deception here on the Peninsula.

We have secret candy eaters who munch in solitary. We have midnight cupboard raiders who get into mother's baking chocolate.

We have people who furtively buy candy bars from slot machines and eat them with their face to the wall in a telephone booth. And we have people who can hold out for a long, long time and then go off in a shameless candy eating spree.

Even worse, we have people who will take candy from a baby—provided the little so-and-so can't talk and tell on them.

In this department's opinion such secrecy is futile. The place for candy is out in the open where we can all eat some of it. Luckily, there's a candy store just down the street.

The Book Shelf

By SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

WITH A convention in town last week and a campaign to follow, books about elections and presidents become most important.

One of the most informative, "Hats in the Ring" by Malcolm Moos and Stephen Hess appeared in 1906.

It contains chapters telling how delegates to the convention are chosen, how committed, how the platform is written and how the candidates are finally chosen.

Upon reviewing it a writer for the Christian Science Monitor wrote, "This is by all odds the book of the year for rendering a quick awareness of what makes a convention tick and an understanding of the bizarre events preceding it."

ANOTHER 1960 book, "The Voter's Presidential Handbook" contains parts that are obsolete while other parts are most timely. Chapters one, two and three give brief discussions of the office of the presidency from 1787 to the present.

"A History of Presidential Elections" by Eugene H. Rosebloom is an authoritative book by a distinguished historian. Though based on scholarship it is a popular history.

A more popular history, however, is a large picture book, "The Presidency" by Stephen Lorant.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA, PACIFICA AND SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

Making Plans

HOLY ANGELS Church will hold a blood drive day on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon at the Parish Hall on San Pedro Way. The Peninsula Blood Bank mobile unit will be on hand to take care of donors. Following the donation, donors will be treated to a breakfast. Pictured above is drive chairman, Earl L. Cesena, seated, and committe members, standing left to right, Dolores Leonard, John J. Gray and Joan Manici.

IN AUGUST

B'nai Israel to Hold Fund Drive

Congregation B'nai Israel has announced plans beginning an intensive fund raising campaign during the months of August to build a new Conservative Jewish synagogue to serve the North County area.

A "Kickoff Dinner" hs been scheduled for August 1.

R. Lynn Koral has been named co-ordinator director for the fund drive.

Serving with her will be the members of the executive committee. They include, Irving Podolsky, Ernest Hartmann, David Hoffman, Gary Kroner, Leonard Mayer, Moris Krow, Paul Lichtman, Annette Kroner, Fred Hoffman, Leon Benson, Gerry Podolsky, Mimi Dobrow, Hilda Michaelis, and Jack Graham.

The congregation, oldest in San Mateo County, was displaced earlier this year when the city began work on the $500,000 Knowles-Los Banos Expressway.

The B'nai Israel Temple, at 67 Los Banos Avenue, was scheduled to be torn down sometime this week.

The congregation had problems with the Board of Supervisors obtaining the use permit because of parking limitations. A change in the design of the building, however, was presented and the Supervisors reversed their previous ruling.

Theme of the drive, which may include door-to-door solicitations, will be "We Are Our Brother's Keepers," Mrs. Koral said.

The new temple will be built on Annie Street in Colma.

Two Students To Take Part In Workshop

Two South San Francisco high school students have been chosen to attend a music workshop at Anderson College in Indiana next month.

The students, chosen by the Hillside Church of God, are Janada Berghouse of El Camino High, and Mike Momper of South San Francisco High.

The two students were chosen because of their musical aptitued and general leadership qualities.

The delegates will travel to Louisville, Ky., after the workshop to join 11 other Hillside Church at the International Convention of Church of God Youth.

The youth groups of the church have provided $2,500 to finance the trip of Miss Berghouse and Momper.

Bethel Has A New Look

Bethel Church of Pacifica has a new look

The look is a new carpet, altar and rostrum. The altar and rostrum were built by volunteer help and the carpet was purchased from funds donated by members and friends of the church.

It was installed by Barney Mintle with the help of several church members.

The new altar was dedicated at a service at which the Rev. E. J. Banning presided.

Pastor Sets Sermons

"No Respector of Persons" is the sermon topic chosen by Pastor A. David Donnelly of the Westside Baptist Church for his Sunday message at 11 a.m.

"Methods of Evangelism in the Book of Acts," is the evening Gospel Hour sermon topic at 7.

The regular Mid-Week Prayer and Bible Study Hour will be conducted at the church parsonage tonight at 7:45 p.m. The topic for discussion will be the "Fullness and Filling of the Holy Spirit."

'Let's Pretend' Ends Sunday

Bethel Church of Pacifica will make a final "Let's Pretend" tour Sunday at 9:30 a.m. with a visit south of the border.

Several authentic costumes and other items found there will be on display at the Sunday School.

Bethel Church of Pacifica is located on Higgins Way and Adobe Drive in Linda Mar.

Broadmoor Topic Set

"God, Gold and the 49'ers" is the theme chosen by Pastor Herbert Tweedie for the 10 a.m. service Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church at 377 87th Street.

The theme was chosen, according to Reverend Tweedie, because many local people are visiting the historic gold mining sites in California during the summer outings.

He said the subject recalls the way people were drawn to California following the discovery of gold at Coloma in 1848. He will proclaim Christian truths in relation to the lure of gold and the primacy of spiritual values of life.

Special music at the service will be a duet, "We Praise Thee, O Lord" by Vivaldi as sung by Dorothy Spratt and Irene Stephen.

Former Teen-age Hoodlums To Speak Sunday at Church

A group of young teen-agers who were former members and leaders of teen gangs in large cities in America will speak at three services at the Grace Chapel Community Church at 100 Los Banos Avenue, Daly City, Sunday.

The services are at 9:45 a.m., 11 a.m., and 7 p.m.

The former teen-age hoodlums and drug addicts are part of a group who were converted and rehabilitated under the ministry of Rev. David Wilkerson, author of the best selling novel, "The Cross and the Switchblade."

The crusading minister was active in tenement areas of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

The selected group will give testimonies and tell of their work in the metropolitan areas of America. They recently set up headquarters for this area in San Francisco.

The meetings will be open to the public.

S.S.F. Pastors Switch Pulpits

The pastors of two South San Francisco Methodist churches will exchange pulpits on Sunday, with a view to closer cooperation among the Methodist churches.

It was felt that the ministers in the congregations should become better acquainted with each other.

The Rev. Gilbert Vieria will preach at St. Paul's Methodist Church, at 10 a.m., on, "Blessed are the Meek?".

Church Takes Crusade Role

Westlake Southern Baptist Church, 90 Northridge Drive, Daly City, will participate in the Laymen's Crusade, according to Rev. Richard L. Seaton, pastor of the church.

The crusade will begin Wednesday July 22 and continue through Sunday July 26.

Over a thousand laymen from other sections of the United States will come to California, at their own expense, to train laymen here for personal witnessing. Daily visitations will be part of the program and the visitors will be accompanied by men of the local church.

Evening services starting at 7:30 will be held at the church and the public is invited, Rev. Seaton said.

The two men expected in Daly City are, William F. Barnard, and M. D. Embry, of Kentucky.

Club Officers Are Elected

The Daly City Table Tennis Club has elected its first slate of officers.

They are: Rupert Medina, president; Bill Block, vice president; Russ Jurgenson, treasurer, and Nil Lauricellia, secretary.

Medina and Black teamed up to win a doubles tournament following the election of officers. They defeated Don McDonegal and Dick Howlett for the title.

The club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, meets on Monday nights at the Westlake Park Clubhouse from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The activity is open to the public and equipment is available.

WINDOWS DAMAGED

Ronald Angelot of 145 West Market Street told Daly City police that vandals fired bb holes through six windows of a home he owns at 134 Los Olivos Street. Damage was estimated at $30.

GENERAL ADVERTISING EXCELLENCE

The people who are best qualified to judge, the California Newspaper Advertising Executives association, recently rated The Times first among California's largest newspapers for overall excellence in its advertising content.

Sure, The Times wins more than its share of awards for news coverage, too, but the ads are just as important to a lot of our readers. That's why we're proud that we are able to carry more ads (food, drugs, apparel, general merchandise, eating and drinking, furniture and household appliances, automotive, gas stations, lumber, building, hardware – you name it, The Times carries the most of it). Casserole Could Curry Flavor Favor Need an idea for a vegetable that will be delicious but different? How about a cauliflower casserole with a rich sauce, a spicy flavor, and an easy-mix method?

The cooked cauliflower flowerettes are added to a sauce made with a white sauce mix, milk, and half and half for extra richness. For flavor, there's curry powder and sweet pickle relish. And for texture, there are buttered crumbs to form a crisp topping.

The result is creamy, flavorful, and couldn't be better if you'd spent hours stirring sauces over low flames.

If you're entertaining and want to organize things in advance, cook the cauliflower and make the sauce early in the buttered crumbs just before baking. With chilled ingredients, increase the baking time to about 25 minutes, or until the mixture is heated and bubbles around the edge.

You'll find this casserole takes only a few minutes to prepare — a fact you'll apreciate summer or winter. And since cauliflower is available the year round, we've called it a Four Seasons Casserole. In summer, it's especially good with cold meat and potato salad.

FOUR SEASONS CASSEROLE

- 1 medium to large cauliflower (about 4 cups flowerettes)
- 1 envelope (1 ounce) white sauce mix(x)
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup half and half (milk and cream)
- ½ cup drained sweet pickle relish
- 1 to 1½ teaspoons curry powder, optional
- ¼ cup fine corn flake crumbs
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Break cauliflower into flowerettes or cut into ¼ inch slices; cook in boiling salted water just until tender. Drain. Combine sauce mix, milk and half and half; heat to boiling stirring constantly. Stir in pickle relish and curry powder. Combine with cauliflower. Pour into a shallow 1 quart casserole. Combine crumbs and butter or margarine; sprinkle over cauliflower mixture. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) until heated, about 15 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

(x)-One cup rich medium white sauce may be substituted for white sauce mix, milk and half and half.

Convenience With Cheese

All convenience foods don't come in bottles, cans or packages.

Fruit Sherbet Beverage makers have found that a specialty cheese, such as mellow American blue, also can e called a convenience food. They keep a wedge in the refrigerator so that some of the tangy cheese can be crumbled on a salad at a moment's notice.

Another way to use this "convenience" food is as a topping for a Blueburger. When cooking hamburgers some night, take out the wedge of American blue and crumble a little of he chheese on the meat. Beef and blue cheese are natural flavor-is especially good.

Crumbled American blue also can be put on many types of sandwiches.

Most homemakers who use this budget-priced cheese regularly have found that it truly is a "convenience" food. T ey find that it finds its way onto the family menu several times

Croquettes Hanover for Cool Evening

Here's an interesting recipe for croquettes, rich in seasoning, and fine for a cooler evening on the patio, or for a special occasion.

CROQUETTES HANOVER

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup cold milk
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- Dash nutmeg
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 cups ground olive loaf, pressed ham or bologna
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- ½ teaspoon sweet basil
- ½ cup flour
- 1 egg white, slightly beaten
- Fine bread crumbs
- Vegetable oil for frying

1. Stir flour into melted butter in skillet. Add milk, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Stir until thickened. (If you use cold milk, you'll never have a lumpy sauce.)

2. Once thick remove from heat and add ingredients through sweet basil. Cool and refrigerate until ready to use. Shape into cones, roll in flour, dip in egg white and then crumbs. Fry in 375-degree deep fat for about 5 minutes, or until brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serve with glazed acorn squash slices, asparagus in salami rings and a sour cream sauce.

When Is Sauce Not A Sauce?

Take a tip from the graet masters of the kitchens. MKAKE UP A BATCH OF "sauces" to p on hand as toppings for all sorts of meats and vegetables.

This Quiche Lorraine Is Easy as Pie

Here's a dish with international flavor that is as easy as pie. In fact, it is a pie, served as an entree.

Quiche Lorraine is a delightful combination of bacon, onion and cheese — topped with a custard. It is a main dish course or may be cut into petite pieces and served as hot hors d'oeuvres.

Home economists recommend that this pie be baked and served in the same dish.

QUICHE LORRAINE
(Serves 6)

- 1 10 inch pastry shell, unbaked
- ½ pound cooked crisp bacon . .
- ½ cup chopped sauteed onion
- 4 eggs
- ½ cup light cream
- 4 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Several grinds of pepper

Line, bake and serve casserole with pastry. Bake at 475 degrees for just 5 minutes. Cool on rack.

Put bacon and sauteed onions in pie shell. Combine rest of ingredients with wire whisk until they are well mixed. Pour into pie crust. Bake at 300 degrees for 40 minutes or until an inserted knife comes out clean. Cut like pie and serve at once.

Cheese Offers Budget Price

Many items found in the gourmet section of your loaal supermarket carry a budget price tag.

In the cheese section, for instance, you'll find mellow American blue cheese at a reasonable price that allows you to use it for family meals, as well as special dinners.

Since you only need a little of this cheese to impart the unique salt-and-pepper taste, a wedge will last for some time.

A specialty cheese like American blue can be almost as versatile as the familiar cheddar. In addition to being one of our favorite salad dressing ingredients, blue cheese also can be used to top burgers, steak and chops.

Many homemakers also use crumbled blue cheese as a topping for meat loaf, or a favorite casserole. Dad's favorite Sunday sandwich also can be given "new life" by sprinkling some blue cheese in it.

300 PACIFIC HEIGHTS PLAZA—SAN BRUNO

DELICIOUS, BUT NOT TRICKY—You don't have to be a Cordon Bleu to serve your friends a delightful low-calory salad of cold chicken, fresh fruit, crisp greens and creamy orange dressing.

Chicken Summer Platter Feature

Entertaining at a summer luncheon can be easy if you choose to serve a salad as the main course.

If the guests are to be "the girls," here's our nomination—a cold chicken and fruit platter with a special dressing. The chicken may be cooked the day before your luncheon and stored in the refrigerator. The fresh fruit should be parepared shortly before serving, but that's easy. The dressing is made in a twinkling in an electric blender.

That dressing is a high point and it's perfectly delicious and low in calories. Several years ago we thought of putting cream-style cottage cheese in the electric blender (with a little buttermilk or milk and lemon juice) to prepare what we called Ersatz Sour Cream. Then some bright cooks evolved variations on that theme. The latest we've tried—a combination of cottage cheese and frozen orange juice concentrate plus a suspicion of sugar and salt—makes a fine accompaniment for the chicken and fresh fruit.

COLD CHICKEN AND FRUIT PLATTER

- 5 to 6 cups diced cooked chicken
- 1½ cups diced celery
- Fresh fruit—cantaloupe, avocado, pineapple, peaches, grapes
- Salad greens
- Creamy Orange Dressing

Mix chicken with celery and mound in the center of a large platter. Remove outer covering from cantaloupe and avocado; seed and cut in wedges. Remove rind from pineapple, slice and core. Peel peaches, halve and pit. Cut grapes in small clusters. Arrange fruit and salad greens around chicken and celery. Serve with Creamy Orange Dressing. Makes 8 servings.

CREAMY ORANGE DRESSING

- 8 ounces (1 cup) cream-style cottage cheese
- ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- Dash of salt

Place cottage cheese, concentrate, sugar and ginger in an electric blender; blend until smooth. Makes about 1 cup—20 calories per tablespoon.

COOKED CHICKEN FOR PLATTER

- 2 three-pound broiler-fryers whole or cut up
- 3 cups water
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 3 celery tops
- 1 branch parsley
- 2 bay leaves
- 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Place chicken in kettle with all the ingredients. Bring to a boil; cover tightly. Simmer until tender—about 40 minutes—turning once if you like. Strain broth; refrigerate or freezer-store for some other use. Cool chicken; remove meat from bones and dice. Makes 5 to 6 cups meat and 3 to 4 cups broth.

Fancy Meal Easy With a Cheese Soup

The French, noted for their excellent cooking, usually start their meals with a cup or bowl of soup. Home economists from United States Stamping Company have developed a recipe for cheese soup that would make the head chef of the Cordon Bleu, the famous Parisian cooking school, sit up and take notice.

This American version of cheese soup employs many of the modern American conveniences, such as canned soup, commercially grated cheese and even packaged chives, if fresh chives are not available to you.

Because cheese has a tendency to scorch and burn quickly, it is wise to prepare this delectable soup in a double boiler.

CHEESE SOUP

- 1 soup can of milk
- 1 10 oz. can condensed cheese soup
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- Paprika
- Parsley

Combine first three ingredients. Heat but do not boil. Add butter, cheese and chives. Heat through. Serve in bowls. Garnish with parsley sprig and paprika. Serve with buttered toast rounds.

Coq Au Vin Traditional French Dish

Coq Au Vin is delectable browned chicken, simmered gently in red wine. It is what the French serve instead of our fried chicken.

Although regal sounding, Coq Au Vin is very easy to prepare. The chicken is simply browned in garlic butter and then flavored red wine and herbs. If you have an attractive chicken fryer, you can even serve the chicken in wine from the same pan in which it is cooked.

COQ AU VIN (Chicken in Wine)
(Serves 3 or 4)

- ¼ pound butter
- 1 clove garlic, pressed
- 1 3-pound frying chicken, cut up
- ½ cup brandy
- 2 cups red wine
- Pinch of bayleaf or rosemary
- 1 8 oz. can small white onions, drained
- 1 can (3 oz.) whole mushrooms, drained

Heat butter with garlic. Remove garlic. Quickly brown chicken. Pour brandy over chicken and warm. Ignite. When flame dies, lower heat and add wine and seasoning. Cover and cook for 25 minutes or until chicken is tender. Thicken gravy. Add onions and mushrooms. Heat through and serve hot.

Combine Nuts Cake Mix Into Tasty Dessert

Interested in a different dessert idea? Here's a delightful tip using cake mix and nuts.

To make an unusual nut cake, home economists from Fisher Nut Company suggest the next time you bake your favorite cake mix to set aside about 1 tablespoon of the flour mixture. Dust about ½ cup of chopped nuts with the flour.

Then, after thoroughly mixing the cake, according to package directions, fold the dusted nuts into the batter. Bake as usual and frost with your favorite frosting. Whole nuts will make an attractive and delicious decoration on top of the frosted cake.

One billion dollars are spent annually by Americans on food fads, frauds, and unnecessary "health" products, says Dr. Philip L. White, American Medical Association.

BLUEBERRIES AND WHIPPED CREAM fill crisp tarts made with a timbale iron dipped into batter that is deep-fat fried.

Timbale Iron for Very Crisp Tarts

Of course you can buy a timbale iron, the fascinating device that produces crisp batter tarts.

But if you look in your attic or basement, in Grandma's trunk or Great-aunt's chest, you might just find one there.

Timbale irons were popular in late Victorian days and some still lurk, undiscovered, in odd places. We received ours as a birthday present—a friend found it in an antique shop.

If you have a new timbale iron, you probably have accompanying directions for using it. But if you ferret out an old iron, you might want to try our directions.

In either case, we recommend filling the tart shells with a combination of whipped cream and one of summer's best fruits — large and luscious blueberries.

BLUEBERRY TIMBALE TARTS

1 large egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon oil
1 cup flour
Dash of salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Fat for frying
Whipped cream
Large fresh blueberries

Into a mixing bowl put the egg, milk, oil, flour, salt and nutmeg; with a rotary beater (hand or electric) beat just until smooth. Allow batter to stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Lower timbale iron into hot fat for a minute or two; drain iron thoroughly. Dip iron into batter just to (not over) top; dip batter-covered iron into hot fat just to (not over) top. Allow timbale to brown lightly; with a fork slip tart from iron and turn to brown inner surface. Remove from fat; drain on absorbent paper. Continue making timbales the same way. Store cold tarts in airtight container.

At serving time, fold blueberries into whipped cream; spoon into tarts; cover filling with more blueberries. The number of tarts you make and the amount of filling needed will depend on the size of the timbale iron.

You may not need to dip your iron in the fat, before covering with batter, for every single tart. If the iron is too hot, too much batter will cling to it and the tarts will be on the thick side.

Deviled Dogs Great for Graduates

Looking for something to serve to the young graduates? Here's an extra special way of fixing their favorites, hot dogs.

Bond's home economists recommended these deviled hot dogs as an excellent idea because Mother can have everything prepared ahead of the party. Then, when it's eating time, the boy or girl graduate can just put the hot dogs into the sauce, heat and eat.

A gelatin salad, cookies or "graduation" cake and tall glasses of milk will complete the party fare.

DEVILED HOT DOGS
(8 Servings)

1 small onion, chopped
3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon seasoning salt
2 cups milk
¼ cup hot dog relish
1 tablespoon soy sauce
8 frankfurters
8 frankfurter buns, buttered

Cook onion and green pepper in butter for 5 minutes. Stir in flour and seasoning salt. Add milk. Cook over medium heat until thickened. Stir in relish and soy sauce. Score frankfurters diagonally. Add to sauce. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Serve on buns.

Heritage of Cheesemaking

The rich heritage of cheesemaking is combined with the techniques of modern science in the production of American blue cheese, a gourmet product with appeal to most consumers. Once used only as a salad dressing ingredient or a dessert offering, blue cheese today is becoming a popular main dish ingredient.

The blue flavor streaks in blue cheese are caused by the addition of an ingredient, called penicillium roqueforti. It comes in powdered form and is carefully measured before being added to the milk. The primary achievement in American production methods has been a quality control program that assures uniformity in flavor and texture.

The round 5 to 6-pound wheels of blue cheese are formed in the "hooping" process. Here the curd is poured into perforated stainless steel hoops. The hoops of cheese are put on a draining table where they are turned several times during the first day to produce uniform shape and structure. Regular inspection by the government assures sanitary conditions.

After the cheese has been salted to protect it during aging, the wheels are pierced by solid stainless steel needles. This is done to allow the gas of fermentation to escape and permit the entrance of air that promotes the growth of the spores of penicillium roquefort, which create the characteristic piquant flavor of American blue cheese.

Each lot of blue cheese is "tried" periodically to determine its development. After about 20 days in the curing room, the flavor streaks are in full bloom and the cheese is put in the storage room for its final aging. American blue cheese is aged longer than foreign blue mold cheese, up to 150 days in some brands.

Local supermarkets carry American blue cheese, which is budget priced. Since a little tastes like a lot, a wedge of blue cheese will last for several meals.

Although popular for salad dressings, American blue also can be used to top hamburgers and meat loaves. It also can be used to pep up a variety of gold sandwiches.

Diversified Latin Show Luz Garcia's Sinaloa

Clubs may have their "Swimmers" and "Twisters," but Luz Garcia's Sinaloa has "Ginna," a master graphoanalyst, who opens the show with a Time Step to "Tea for Two," then "signs" off by visiting your table and analyzing handwriting. This is a switch from the usual nitery program, but highly enjoyed by the Sinaloa patrons.

"Ginna"

Following Ginna's skit, a fast-moving and lively all-Latin floor show gets under way with Raquel Flores, Spanish and Flamenco dancer; Sarita Heredia, featuring the fiery music of the Spanish gypsy played to guitar strumming perfection; Victor Buelna, a true son of old Mexico, vocalizing romantic songs of his country attired in lavish costumes—complete with six "six guns."

VICKY ALVAREZ
Sinaloa

The evening eye catcher is Vicky Alvarez, whose scanty, feathered Parisian costumes add just the glamour flare to her exotic dance routines which include audience participation.

Armando Duval, Sinaloa's popular master of ceremonies, keeps the show in "high gear" with his comic patter, dancing, and pop song renditions.

The San Francisco Sinaloa is a "must" for your out-of-town guests and you owe it to yourselves to have a "fun vacation in Mexico." Complete Mexican and American menus; dining room and beverage service from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m., Monday through Saturday. Not open Sunday.

A vacation here is now in full summer swing —and you Hobert Resort vacationists of the past know what I mean . . . Exotic drinks that aren't found in many cocktail lounges are yours for the ordering at the Lanai. Enjoy an atmosphere of the islands—and one that will put you in a vacation frame of mind . . . An all-time favorite dish is a rib steak smothered in mushrooms and side dished with a combination order of spaghetti and raviolis at Bruno Scatena's Joe's of Westlake.

Phil Rauscher

FRANK TORRES, the Montara Beach "Peruvian food expert," is high on his praise for Mario's Latin Trio, who play for dancing here Friday and Saturday evenings. "With our kind of food and this music," commented Frank, "it makes me think of the old country" . . The Jack Moses 4 still swing in great musical style at The Mesa. Sunday 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. jam sessions are also playing to a capacity house . . . Most of us enjoy Mexican food now and then. But once you try Pancho's Mexican Cafe, located at Five Points, you will find that it will become a weekly habit. Select the dishes of your choice from a stainless steel counter and, in a flash, everything is prepared for your table . . . Uncle John's "Pancake Parade" attracts folks from far and near for breakfast, luncheon and dinner . . . Good news for the Brentwood Lodge customers: The restaurant is once again doing business as usual, after a short vacation. Jimmy Pederson entertains at the piano and organ Wednesday through Sunday . . . Plan to enjoy the Tuesday noon-day fashion show and luncheon at the Blue Peacock restaurant. This is a weekly event which is proving a right popular one. . . . Le Trianon Resort, one of Lake County's most thriving, has all the inviting vacation time qualities—whether it's camping or a cottage you choose. Trout and bass fishing, too. . . . Rest, relax and play is the suggestion of Seigler Springs, one of the most popular resorts in Lake County and and your Bright Lighter has enjoyed visiting for the past 15 years. . . .

'Twist Champ' Sandy Johnson Peppermint Tree

Candy Johnson, Frankie Avalon's "Swim-Mate" in the new movie Bikini Beach, is now at the San Francisco Peppermint Tree, along with her Thunderbird Lounge (Las Vegas) Rock n' Roll recording band, the Exciters.

Dancers on Peppermint Tree's king-size dance floor will be huffin' and puffin' if they expect to keep up with Candy, who shifts gears 169 times (different steps) every song. "Oldtimers" remember Candy as a feature in Life Magazine — twisting nearly three years ago.

'Let's Go to Lake Tahoe!'

Barney's new Greyhound Bus schedule to his Lake Tahoe (South Shore) Casino goes into effect next Wednesday, July 22 which means service to this vacation paradise both morning and evening. Redwood City will be the originating point. Pay special attention to Barney's new advertisement which gives the schedule, rates and refunds. Tickets are available for these trips right now.

Another quote from a name in the news who has dined at George Mardikian's Omar Khayyam's: "To my good friend George Mardikian. Sincere regards and much admiration for the finest Armenian food cooked in this part of the world"—William Saroyan.

Nice touch at Phil Lehr's Steakery: Jumbo matches with guests' names printed, for private parties.

Wouldn't make Bertolucci's angry if the convention at the Cow Palace "went into extra innings." The restaurant has been over-flowing since the session began.

Business at Nick's in Rockaway Beach is again back to the normal packed house. It wouldn't surprise me if he and Lorraine set their sights on a well-earned Las Vegas vacation. Of course, Nick will take along his golf clubs.

A & W Drive-In provides 36 parking spaces for their A & W Root Beer and Family Burger patrons. From the looks of business at this 27th Avenue and El Camino spot, another 36 would be welcome. The Papa, Mama and Baby size burgers are the very end —and appetite satisfaction is assured.

Topless Bathing Suit No Problem

Don't ever underestimate the brain power of Sheraton-Villa cocktail waitresses. Take the case of the cute lass who serves poolside at the San Mateo Sheraton-Villa: a couple of days ago, an admiring guest decided that the waitress would be a knockout in a topless bathing suit, so he purchased one. But he insisted she wear it while serving around the pool. The little gal dashed into the change room it was over her regular two-piece waitress uniform. Yes, the admiring guest allowed her to keep the gift.

Attention all steak lovers: Direct your course to the Skylark for a delicious steak that will ring the gourmet bell.

Keith's Chicken "oasis" in Burlingame offers nine varieties of this fine eating fowl. If you're planning an outing, stock up with a bucket or two.

These warm days are "salad naturals" — and Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant takes care of the situation. For those dinners at home, visit the next-door delicatessen, another Vince's enterprise, and pick up your take home selections.

Another cash register smash for Paul Catalana at the San Jose Safari Room: The Mary Kaye Trio opens tonight for a limited engagement. This popular group is real big on the Las Vegas and Reno entertainment circuit — and should wall-to-wall the Safari.

Since Claudia Kennedy has been appearing at Earl's "House of Fine Foods," the organbar "traffic" has increased three-fold. Your requests are no musical problem to Claudia.

Laughs Aplenty At Finocchio's

There's so much comedy in Finocchio's new show in San Francisco that it could be as "a musical comedy," which description would hit the mark just about perfectly. The singers and dancers in the cast sure have to hustle to keep up with the popularity of the array of comics Joe Finocchio has assembled.

"One thing I do want people to do at our club is laugh aplenty," declared Joe. Needless to add, he succeeds in making mirth a big feature of his shows.

Hyatt House for Special Occasions

The word special is "tailor-made" for the Hyatt House in Burlingame. For special occasions, such as birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, or any celebration, you're sure to be pleased after the "ball" is over if you spend it here.

Another "special" is the dinner-dance music played by Bob Wellman and his orchestra during the evening in the swank Scheherazade Room.

On the second level of the Hyatt House, Johnny Kan's delightful Cantonese cuisine offers another "special." Backdrop this with "special" service from General Manager Ed Sullivan and your Hyatt House visit will be one to remember.

New Waldorf Hofbrau Invites Inspection

A new hofbrau has been added to the thriving El Camino Real scene (former site of the Club Waldorf). New owner Ken Hopkins spent many a dollar remodeling the restaurant now called the New Waldorf Hofbrau. He offers the public hot and cold sandwiches, charbroiled steaks, and merchants lunches. Special dinner plates are served in the evening. Specialties of the house are corned beef, pastrami, turkey, ham and roast beef).

Restaurant hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 10 p.m The restaurant section is not open Sundays Cocktails served seven days a week. Parking in back of the restaurant.

The manager of this new operation is Nat Cohen, no newcomer in this field having acted in the same capacity on the East Coast.

Enrico Romano, the Pacifica "pizza baron," offers this advice: "If you want to know how your girl will treat you after you're married, just listen to her talking to her little brother."

Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli is not open Tuesdays. So if you're planning a luncheon or dinner here, target your time Wednesday through Monday.

Highly recommend the Charm Garden restaurant for cultured Chinese cuisine. By all means, don't fail to take home some of the Merchant Prince Salad Dressing or Soy Sauce which is available at the restaurant.

The sun, moon and tide tables show the hours of the day, numbered consecutively from 01:00 (1 a.m.) to 24:00 (midnight) instead of using 12 hours twice followed by a.m. or p.m. Noon is 12:00, 1 p.m. is 13:00. This is the practice followed by the army, navy and all government tide tables and almanacs.

Times and heights of tides at San Mateo Bridge, California. Furnished by Marine Exchange, Inc., from Coast and Geodetic Survey Data. Half Moon Bay tide 2 hours and 10 minutes earlier.

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

The columns at heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey)

22 — HELP WANTED Male

We're Searching
The Peninsula Area
FOR A MAN . . .

Frankly, it may take months to find him. But, we're willing to wait . . . the opportunity is that important.

Here's a quick "profile" of the person we're looking for. Chances are he's between 25 and 42. Education . . . college or equivalent. In all likelihood, he's now in a line-or-executive position . . . well-liked, making good progress. But he has a problem. He knows he's capable of doing better . . . feels "trapped" by a salary structure which is good, but not good enough.

If you fit this general description, we'd be happy to talk to you about this salaried opening in our organization. It may require several interviews . . . will certainly require exhaustive tests. But should you turn out to be the man we are looking for . . . we can promise it will be well worth your time and trouble.

To pursue the matter further, write us a letter outlining your business experience, age, marital status. (If you prefer, phone 341-7741.)

We'll Contact You and Arrange a Meeting

County Gets $293,562 in Highway Tax

State Controller Alan Cranston last week announced the distribution of $127,612,292 among the state, cities and counties as the June apportionment of highway users taxes.

San Mateo County's share was $293,562.

A total of $11,369,632 went directly to the counties; $7,316,647 to the State Highway Fund for counties and cities; $5,067,524 to the State Highway Fund for cities and $103,858,489 for expenditure on state highways.

The amount distributed was derived from the following sources: Gasoline tax, $48,973,372; diesel fuel tax, $2,198,621; by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund, $1,436,944; by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Fund, $75,000,000; and the balance from miscellaneous sources.

The total apportionment was $87,382,890 more than the previous month's distribution, and $39,632,683, or 45 per cent, more than the apportionment for June last year.

The distribution made in June includes the annual transfer of money from the Motor Vehicle Fund to the State Highway Fund. The transfer this year was $10 million more than originally estimated as a result of the increase in weight and registration fees by 1963 legislation.
